NEW COUNTERFEIT $20 GOLD CERTIFICATE

Series of 1906; check letter B; plate number 0; W. T. Vernon, Register of the Treasury; Chas. H. Treat, Treasurer of the United States.

Photo-etched counterfeit. Two pieces of paper with silk threads between. Portrait of Washington fair. On the counterfeit before us the seal and Treasury numbers are red instead of yellow as in genuine, and the yellow "XX" on left end of note omitted, but in its place there are yellow figures which are much blurred, but apparently meant to be "20." Lathe work on face poor. Words "Act of July 12, 1882," face of note over check letter B, and "Series of 1906" in both places on note, heavy and irregular. Titles "Register of the Treasury" and "Treasurer of the United States," under Vernon's and Treat's names, broken and indistinct. Back very fair color, but no attempt has been made to imitate lathe work, etc.

Credit is due Mr. Geo. C. Rushmore, Receiving Teller of the Corn Exchange Bank, 28th Street branch, also Cashier Thomas Cook & Son, 245 Broadway, for the detection of this counterfeit.

New Counterfeit $2 Silver Certificate

Mr. John E. Wilkie, Chief of the Secret Service, reports a new counterfeit as follows:

Series of 1899; William T. Vernon, Register of the Treasury; Chas. H. Treat, Treasurer of the United States. Serial No. N35346254; no check letter.

This note is printed on a single piece of paper and is a pale photographic production which has been crudely colored so as to bear a very remote resemblance to a genuine note. The numbering looks as if it was put on with a sharp pointed stick. It ought not to deceive any one familiar with money, but the note before me was accepted after examination by several cashiers in the office of a corporation on the theory that it had gone through a laundry or had been subjected to a bath in bleaching fluid.

New Counterfeit $5 Silver Certificate (Indian Head)

CHECK LETTER M.

Series 1899; face plate number 687; J. W. Lyons, Register of the Treasury; Chas. H. Treat, Treasurer of the United States.

Photo-mechanical process, on fair quality of paper with fibre imitated by red and blue ink lines. In portrait of Indian, face appears too stout and more of a female face than the typical male; the eyes are very poorly portrayed; feathers and regalia poorly done. Numbering a trifle lighter and out of alignment. Seal and large numeral "5" lighter blue than genuine. The title "Register of the Treasury," under J. W. Lyons' name, poorly done, and period omitted after word "Treasury." The title "Treasurer of the United States," under Chas. H. Treat's name, also poorly done, none of the t's being crossed, and the period omitted after the word "States." The three periods in Chas. H. Treat's name omitted. Lathe work, both front and back, poorly done. Green color of back fair.

On the sample before us the fibre has been imitated by pen and ink marks. Others may not have these marks. The check letter M should enable anyone familiar with the system of check lettering Government issues to detect this note at once, as the Government issues bills with check letters A, B, C and D only, while National banks are liable to have any letter of the alphabet issued to them on their bills.

Credit is due Mr. George Shevlin, Receiving Teller People's Trust Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., for the detection of this counterfeit.

New Counterfeit $2 Silver Certificate

Mr. John E. Wilkie, Chief of the Secret Service, reports a new counterfeit as follows:

Series of 1899; William T. Vernon, Register of the Treasury; Chas. H. Treat, Treasurer of the United States. Serial No. N35346254; no check letter.

This note is printed on a single piece of paper and is a pale photographic production which has been crudely colored so as to bear a very remote resemblance to a genuine note. The numbering looks as if it was put on with a sharp pointed stick. It ought not to deceive any one familiar with money, but the note before me was accepted after examination by several cashiers in the office of a corporation on the theory that it had gone through a laundry or had been subjected to a bath in bleaching fluid.

New Counterfeit $10 National Bank Note

CHECK LETTER C.

On the National Union Bank of Baltimore, Md. Series of 1875; John Allison, Register of the Treasury; John C. New, Treasurer of the United States; charter number 1480; bank number 1837; Treasury number B513072 on the specimen before us, but these numbers may be changed on other bills. This note is a pen and ink production of fair workmanship on parts of the note. The poorest parts are the title of the bank, viz., "The National Union Bank of Baltimore," the color and formation of the seal and numbering, while the lathe work and fine border work is untraceable. Back of note, the lettering at top and bottom of vignette is hardly readable. Paper of fair quality, but no fibre or imitation of it.

Credit is due Mr. W. L. Miltenberger, Cashier United States Safe Deposit and Savings Bank of New Orleans, La., for the detection of this counterfeit.

New Counterfeit $10 National Bank Note

CHECK LETTER B.

Mr. John E. Wilkie, Chief of the Secret Service, reports a new counterfeit as follows:

On the Germania National Bank of San Francisco, Cal. Series of 1902; J. W. Lyons, Register of the Treasury; Ellis H. Roberts, Treasurer of the United States. Portrait of McKinley. Division "P"; charter number 6592; Treasury number N876546; bank number 1922. Dated January 16, 1903.

This is a straight photographic counterfeit, in which the divisional letter, the charter number and the Treasury number have been put on with a rubber stamp. The seal has been tinted, but shows plainly the black photographic imprint beneath. The back is a photographic print in dark blue. It is on two pieces of paper, with no attempt to imitate the distributed red and blue silk threads, and is of such character that it should immediately be detected on presentation. It was reported to this service by Mr. F. W. Seager, Assistant Cashier of the Sawtelle, Cal., branch of the Bank of Santa Monica. This bank is no longer in existence, having been absorbed after the San Francisco fire.

CHECK LETTER A.

Series 1899; check letter A; face plate number 609; J. W. Lyons, Register of the Treasury; Chas. H. Treat, Treasurer of the United States.

Photo-mechanical process, on fair quality of paper with fibre imitated by red and blue ink lines. In portrait of Indian, face appears too stout and more of a female face than the typical male; the eyes are very poorly portrayed, feathers and regalia poorly done. Numbering a trifle lighter and out of alignment. Seal and large numeral "5" lighter blue than genuine. The wording which appears over seal at right end is "Series of 1889" instead of "1899," as in genuine, but in lower left corner is correct and both are much blurred. The title "Register of the Treasury" under J. W. Lyons' name, poorly done, and period omitted after word "Treasury." The title "Treasurer of the United States," under Chas. H. Treat's name, also poorly done, none of the t's being crossed, and the period omitted after the word "States." The three periods in Chas. H. Treat's name omitted. Lathe work, both front and back, fairly done. Green color of back fair.

Credit is due Mr. Edward Henn, Paying Teller Jersey City Trust Co., Jersey City, N. J., for the detection of this counterfeit.

New Counterfeit $5 United States Note

CHECK LETTER B.

Mr. John E. Wilkie, Chief of the Secret Service, reports a new counterfeit as follows:

Series 1907; check letter B; plate number blurred but looks like 217; W. T. Vernon, Register of the Treasury; Charles H. Treat, Treasurer; portrait of Jackson.

This is a poor photomechanical production upon a single piece of paper with no attempt to imitate silk threads. The lathework, front and back, and in fact all of the fine work on the note, is so blurred that it should attract immediate attention and should not deceive the ordinary careful handler of money.

This note was discovered in New York, and Assistant Teller Cornelius Outcault, of the Irving National Bank, is responsible for its detection.

New Counterfeit $10 National Bank Note

CHECK LETTER G.

Mr. W. H. Moran, Acting Chief of the Secret Service, reports a new counterfeit as follows:

On the Citizens Central National Bank of New York, N. Y.; series of 1902; check letter G; J. W. Lyons, Register; Ellis H. Roberts, Treasurer; charter number 1290; bank number 17592; Treasury number A128250; portrait of William McKinley.

This counterfeit is apparently printed from lithograph plates on two pieces of paper between which silk threads have been distributed. The pink seal is excellent, both as to color and workmanship. The numbering is poor, the figures being irregular in size and alignment. The lathe work, particularly on back of note, is blurred and indistinct. This counterfeit is more than ordinarily deceptive.

The first one of these counterfeits was discovered by Mr. Henry J. Iles, Receiving Teller of the Borough Bank of Brooklyn.

CHECK LETTER B.

Series 1899; check letter B; face plate number 636; back plate number 553; J. W. Lyons, Register of the Treasury; Chas. H. Treat, Treasurer of the United States.

Photo-mechanical process, on fair quality of paper with fibre imitated by red and blue ink lines. In portrait of Indian, face appears too stout and more of a female face than the typical male; the eyes are very poorly portrayed, feathers and regalia poorly done. Numbering a trifle lighter and out of alignment. Seal and large numeral "5" lighter blue than genuine. The wording which appears over seal at right end is "Series of 1889" instead of "1899," as in genuine, but in lower left corner is correct and both are much blurred. The title "Register of the Treasury" under J. W. Lyons' name, poorly done, and period omitted after word "Treasury." The title "Treasurer of the United States," under Chas. H. Treat's name, also poorly done, none of the t's being crossed, and the period omitted after the word "States." The three periods in Chas. H. Treat's name omitted. Lathe work, both front and back, fairly done. Green color of back fair.

Credit is due Mr. W. P. Hadwen, Paying Teller of the National Copper Bank, New York City, for the detection of this counterfeit.

New Counterfeit $5 Silver Certificate (Indian Head)

CHECK LETTER C.

Act of August 4, 1886; series 1899; check letter C; face plate number 806; back plate number 553; J. W. Lyons, Register; Chas. H. Treat, Treasurer. Portrait of Indian chief. A very dangerous counterfeit. The sample before us bears serial number D31562175, but as numbers are easily changed, it is not safe to be guided entirely by them. The paper is same thickness as genuine. Silk fibre is imitated by blue and red ink lines. Were it not that the counterfeit is printed with a slightly lighter shade of ink, both front and back, it would be impossible, by a casual glance, to distinguish the counterfeit from genuine note, though on close examination it will be seen that in counterfeit the Indian's face has a frowning expression, the pupils of the eyes not showing as in genuine, and on counterfeit the locket on Indian's chest is too white, lacking shading of genuine. In genuine the tails or feathers hanging from Indian's head on each side have a light shading, while in counterfeit they are dark and blurred. Counterfeit has "Series 1899" under serial number on lower left side of note and "Series 1889" over seal on right side of note; both should be "1899." Examining counterfeit closely under a magnifying glass, the figures of the numbers appear too thin and of irregular size and formation. In signature of Treasurer Treat the periods have been omitted after "Chas", "H" and the final ending of the name. The "H" and "T" are also disconnected, while in genuine they are connected. In line "Treasurer of the United States," under signature of Chas. H. Treat, the words "Treasurer" and "of" run together like one word, the letters are irregular, the letters "t" not all crossed and letter "n" in "United" broken. Lathe work on both front and back of counterfeit is a good imitation, but under a close examination appears coarse and irregular.

Credit is due Mr. J. A. Huntington, Assistant Secretary of the New Rochelle (N. Y.) Trust Co., for the detection of this counterfeit.

The Nation's Treasure House

When Congress passed the Emergency Currency Act last May authorizing the Controller of the Currency to have printed emergency currency to the value of one-half of the amount of Government bonds owned by the National banks throughout the country, a condition was created—and a very serious condition—which nobody realized so fully as Watson W. Eldridge, Chief of the Division of Issues under the Currency Bureau, says the New York Times. For this vast sum, about $490,000,000 was to be placed in his hands for safe keeping, as is all the National bank currency.

At the time of the passage of this act there was on hand in the vaults on the second floor of the Treasury Building in Washington about $200,000,000 of National bank notes, as a "working stock." This quantity of paper money was about all that these two vaults would hold. So when the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, after sending out a C. Q. D. summons for all the expert engravers in the country to come to Washington and aid in altering the steel plates, to comply with the new law, began to send the emergency currency in drayloads to Mr. Eldridge, that trusted guardian of the Nation's wealth began to spend the most uneasy nights in all his forty years' service in the Treasury Department and twenty years in his present position.

The money continued to pour in, not in thousands and hundreds of thousands, but in millions. It was the most unwelcome money ever unloaded upon a man working for a salary.

When things reached a crisis an order was given for a vault to hold this emergency currency, a vault which would make all previously manufactured safes look like pocket savings banks, for the new structure of steel was to be thin shells between inconceivable wealth and thieves who were ready to break in and steel, and the corruption of fire, earthquakes and devastation of any other character. It must be a vault, so the Treasury officials specified, capable of holding the vastest sum of money ever stored in one place, five hundred millions.

The order was given and the safemakers set to work. To-day the vault stands completed. There are stored in the steel pigeonholes a little more than three hundred millions of banknotes, and the remaining millions are being stored away as fast as they can be counted in the big offices above the level of the street.

The new vault, which was built at a cost of $45,000, is a two-story structure, furnished with steel racks, which closely resemble safety deposit box racks. The interior walls are of Harveyized steel, half an inch thick, and the whole vault is incased in masonry and cement more than two feet thick. But beneath the masonry and the shell of steel lies the chief protection of the vault against burglars—a mat of closely woven steel wires. Each of these wires is charged with electricity, so that when one of them is touched with an awl or a bit or a dynamite pump an alarm is instantly set off in an adjoining building, where watchmen are constantly on guard. And to make sure that this electrical apparatus is working properly there is a "buzzer" which goes off every fifteen minutes inside the vault. If the warning apparatus is not working properly this buzzer will be thrown out of commission and the watchmen will be immediately notified.

"But what if the cables connecting the vault with the watchmen's room should be cut?" Mr. Eldridge was asked. The reply was that any tampering with the cable would have the same effect upon the alarm system as if the vault itself had been attacked.

This enormous vault, whose roof is on a level with the pavement, has a perfect system of ventilation by great driving and suction fans, which are turned on when the vault is opened, so that the air is fresh and cool at all times. It is lighted by electricity, the lighting plug being put in place only after the vault door is opened.

One of the marvels of the vault is the vault door, a complicated mass of gray steel weighing seven tons, but so wonderfully balanced on ball-bearing hinges that it can be opened without effort. It has four combinations, and no one man in the employ of the Government knows them. Two men know two of them, and two others the remaining two, so that in order to unlock the money chamber at least two persons must be present. The door is, of course, equipped with the time lock device, which is now in use on all first-class safes. But even entrance through the vault door sets off the alarm in the watchmen's room. It is necessary, therefore, to supply the watchmen's department with a schedule showing at what hour the vault will be opened according to this schedule. The vault, according to the schedule, must not be opened before 8.45 in the morning and it must be closed before 5 every night.

The only way to reach the vault is by way of a tiny hydraulic elevator, which is protected by an iron door, opening almost at the elbow of the Chief of the Division of Issues, who keeps the key in his desk. It is operated by the old-fashioned rope-pulling device, and is the most prosaic road to millions imaginable.

The crispness and durability of our present-day bank notes are due largely to the efforts of Mr. Eldridge, the guardian of the Jumbo among vaults. Many years ago Congress passed a law authorizing the issue of Treasury notes, and the bill required that these notes be put in circulation within thirty days. It was a rush job. The paper on which money is printed has to be dampened before it takes the impression of the hand press, so that when it comes out it is not sized (covered with glossy surface as the result of a bath in a glutinous substance). These Treasury notes were issued just as they came from the press. As a result the fibres soon began to break through the surface of the paper, and as each bit of fibre dropped from the bill the ink began to fade, so that within two weeks after the first bill was issued the Treasury had to begin to redeem the tattered notes and issue new ones. It was then that a committee appointed to examine into methods of the Treasury Department suggested that all paper on which bank notes were printed should be resized after printing. Mr. Eldridge was the aggressive factor in this particular reform, and it is to him that the present pleasing appearance of our paper money is due.

Prior to the completion of the new vault the emergency currency was stored in the basement of the Union Trust Company at the corner of Fifteenth and H Streets, N. W., Washington. The first few millions that were received were placed in a large iron vault, but when cartloads of money began to arrive this vault with a capacity of a mere forty millions soon overflowed, and then this enormous wealth was stacked on the floor in ordinary wooden boxes, which any hatchet could have knocked to smithereens. This seemed an awful risk for the Government to take, but there was nothing else to be done. A tiny dynamite cartridge discharged in a little areaway in the rear of the bank building would have blown a hole in the cellar walls that would have bared to view wealth of which Solomon "in all his glory" could not have dreamed, and which would have made haughty Croesus green with envy. In order to meet this danger the Government employed ten extra watchmen, who patrolled the streets and alleys in the neighborhood of the Union Trust Building for nine months, day and night. These watchmen were only dropped from the payroll of the Treasury on May 10, when the new vault was turned over to the Government by the contractors.

But the Division of Issue was not the only branch of the Government which found itself extremely busy after the passage of the Emergency Currency Act. The steel plates for every National bank in the country had to be altered. To the legend on the face of the banknotes and at the top, "Secured by bonds of the United States," there had to be added a third line, "Or other securities." In order to add these three words every plate had to be softened, the extra words engraved, and then the whole plate retempered. Each of these bank note plates, which costs $75, will print 30,000 bills; then the impression begins to get dull, and the plate has to be softened, the dies recut, and the plate tempered again, after which about 10,000 more impressions can be taken. The plates are then destroyed and new ones made.

To-day Mr. Eldridge sleeps easy. "Let your notes come in as fast as you can make them," is his message to the head of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. "Rush the notes over until we have a stock of 700,000,000, 200,000,000 to remain in the upper vaults for current needs of the banks and 500,000,000 to rest secure in the vault beneath the Treasury, guarded by its walls of steel and stone and by its network of wires which never sleep."

HAD A BUNDLE OF BAD $2 BILLS.

After spending the greater part of the night in cells in Stagg Street Station, Brooklyn, three men suspected of being agents of a gang of counterfeiters were turned over to the Federal authorities. The men said they were John Navar, address refused; Giovanni Graffo, of No. 177 Montrose Avenue, and John Dermio, of No. 235 Meserole Street.

Small shopkeepers in East New York and the Williamsburg sections of Brooklyn have suffered frequent losses of late because of $2 counterfeit bills that have been in circulation. The Federal authorities were notified and Secret Service agents have been working to run down the makers of the bills and the men and women who have been passing them.

Policemen Elder, of the Herbert Street Station, was passing through Grand Street when Filliam Fischer, a shopkeeper at No. 605 rushed up to him and said: "There are three men in my store with bundles of counterfeit money."

Elder was joined by Policeman Mahoney, of the Herbert Street station, and the two drew their revolvers as they entered the store. Navar, one of the prisoners, tried to tear up a number of bogus $2 bills. Several were thrown on the floor and half a dozen others were found concealed in his clothing.

NEW COUNTERFEIT SWINDLE.

An investigation has been begun by the Immigration Bureau which it is hoped may disclose the identity of a band of Italian counterfeiters, which, working in this country, is believed to manufacture bogus United States currency, which is sent to confederates in Italy, who exchange it with emigrating Italians for good Italian money.

The suspicion that such a band was operating in this country was occasioned by the discovery that many of the 814 steerage passengers on the Koenig Albert of the North German Lloyd Line, which arrived from Italy last week, had in their possession spurious United States half dollars.

Decision on Savings Banks Securities

The recent decision of the Attorney General of New York State on the right of a savings bank to arrange with a National bank to use the former's Government and other securities for the purpose of obtaining circulation or Government deposits, is in full below. The communication is addressed to the Superintendent of the Banking Department, Clark Williams:

"I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 12th ultimo, enclosing a copy of opinion of this department, dated October 12, 1906, and copy of blank agreement used by certain savings banks and National banks and pertaining to the use of the investment securities of said savings banks.

"You ask for my opinion as to the legality of this agreement. This department held in the opinion mentioned above that the directors of savings banks were not authorized to loan its securities, 'no matter how good the security may be which is offered or given for such loan.' The agreement submitted by you taken in its entirety provides in brief that the party of the first part, the savings bank, agrees to sell and does sell, and the party of the second part thereby agrees to deposit and does purchase the securities listed in an annexed schedule for a certain price. The first party agrees to purchase the sum so fixed as a price with the second party to the extent permitted by the laws of the United States and the laws of the State of New York; that upon demand by the first party the second party will resell the whole or any part of said securities to the first party and upon demand by the second party the first party will repurchase said bonds at the price of the alleged sale; the second party will pay interest upon the deposit of said purchase price at the respective rate earned on said securities and in addition one per centum per annum on the total circulation which the second party may receive from the Treasurer of the United States on account of such bonds being placed in the said Treasury; that when any of said securities shall fall due and be paid the proceeds shall without delay be paid to the first party, and the party of the first part will repay to the party of the second part any premium paid by the second party on said security on the date of said agreement and that the party of the first part may substitute in such case other securities in place of those so paid.

"It is my opinion that this agreement is not a sale, nor even conditional sale of said securities. The party of the first part cannot, by the terms of the agreement, require second party to keep the securities but may demand their return and the second party may force the first party to accept the return of said securities on demand. There is no contingency under which the title may vest absolutely in the second party. It is in my opinion merely a loan of the securities by the savings bank for the purpose of allowing a National bank to obtain an issuance of circulation notes from the Federal Government by a deposit of those securities with the Treasurer of the United States. For this loan the savings bank is to obtain compensation at the rate of one per centum per annum of the total amount of the circulation so granted.

"In effect the situation is the same as that presented to the Attorney-General upon which his opinion was given on the 12th of October, 1906. In my opinion the procedure is illegal and, therefore, should not be continued.

"Section 133 of the Consolidated Banking Law provides, with reference to the powers of savings banks:

"...; and in addition to the powers conferred by the general corporation law every such corporation shall have power to receive on deposit any sum of money that may be offered for that purpose by any person, or by any corporation or society, and to invest the same, and to declare credit and pay dividends thereon, and further, to transact the business of a savings bank as hereinafter provided and not otherwise; . . ."

"In Section 146 of the Consolidated Banking Law the kinds of investment in which the funds of a savings bank may be invested are defined at great length and exactness, preceded by the following sentence: 'The trustees of any savings bank may invest the moneys deposited therein and the income derived therefrom only as follows':

"Section 148 of said Banking Law provides, 'The trustees of every such corporation shall as soon as practicable invest the moneys deposited with them in the securities authorized by this article, . . .' and further permits of the deposit of certain sums not exceeding ten per centum of the whole amount of the deposit for the purpose of meeting current payments and expenses in excess of the receipts and that portions of such available fund may be loaned upon pledge of securities under certain restrictions. By Section 149 of said law a savings bank is permitted to deposit temporarily in banks of trust companies the excess of current daily receipts over payments until the same can be judiciously invested in the securities required by law. Section 152 of said law forbids such corporation to trade in any goods, wares, merchandise or commodities whatever, save such personal property as may be necessary for its business and that it shall not borrow money or pledge or hypothecate any of its securities, save with the written approval of the Superintendent of Banks and in pursuance of a majority vote of its board of trustees.

"The transaction embodied in the agreement referred to is not a pledge or hypothecation of its securities because the savings bank receives no loan by reason thereof, but, on the contrary, the savings bank does loan its securities, which thereby pass out of its possession, to become liable for the obligation of a National bank with reference to the issuance of circulation notes.

"There being nowhere in the law governing the operation of savings banks, a provision, specifically or impliedly authorizing this use of the securities in which the law has directed the trustees to invest the savings of depositors, and there being restrictions in the law against the transaction of business in any other way than as therein permitted, I conclude that the transaction contemplated by agreement of alleged sale, even though it has for one of its objects increased earnings for the savings bank, is authorized by the law, and, therefore, illegal."

THE WORLD'S OLDEST COIN.

Apropos of recent sales of ancient coins in America and Europe, it has been asked if anybody can name the oldest coin in existence.

What is regarded as the most ancient coin in the world is one that was discovered a few years ago by a German archaeologist during his explorations in North Syria. It is a coin of pure silver, bearing a perfect Aramean inscription of Panammu Bar Rerub, King of Schamol, who reigned 800 years B. C.

Up to the time of the discovery of this coin, says the London Chronicle, the Lydians had always been regarded as the inventors of money, but this new find showed that the Semitic Arameans, who lived two centuries before the Lydians, are the oldest known coiners of money.

SAVINGS BANK INSURANCE.

The Massachusetts plan of savings bank, insurance and old-age pensions is just entering upon its second year of actual operation, the insurance department of the Whittman Savings Bank having been opened June 22, 1908. Very considerable success is being achieved. The record of business actually written, according to the books at the State Actuary's office, shows that there are now about 2,000 policyholders representing three-quarters of a million. This is not an immense total as life insurance figures go, but as most of it has been written in the last six months and there are many evidences of growing interest, it is large enough to show that the project is attracting attention.

BRANCHES FOR SAVINGS BANKS.

Since the passage of the law in Massachusetts allowing savings banks to establish branches, there has been some discussion among New York bankers as to the possibilities and advantages of such a law. Opinions differ upon this subject, even among those who are strongly opposed to the Government postal savings bank idea, although the measure is being put forth largely to overcome one of the chief arguments of the advocates of the postal bank plan, namely, that the facilities for saving are not brought within reach of the inhabitants of rural districts.

One of the most conservative of savings bank officials says: "I am not in favor of such a law, as we do not need to establish branches. New York is so thickly populated that every section of the city has its savings bank and in the country a small bank could start up in a town which does not have a bank, and do business upon much more economical lines than a well-established city bank. I believe that there is only one reason for a law of this character, and that is to take the place of the postal savings bank."

Another prominent banker takes just the opposite view. He says: "If New York were to have a law formed on the same principle as Massachusetts, it would result in getting the people in out-of-the-way places to save. By the Massachusetts law a bank is enabled to send around collectors to mills, factories and the like once a week and collect the savings of the workmen. In this way the money is kept within a certain radius, and can be loaned out on mortgages to people within the radius, thereby improving the district in which the money is saved and at the same time creating a desire among those people to save who never have had the opportunity before. On the other hand, the postal savings bank, while giving a larger number the opportunity to save, would take all of the savings from the country places and in time it would arrive in Washington, having done the districts where it was collected absolutely no good. If a town wished to build a bridge, a man decided to enlarge a house, or some such enterprise were to be started, there would be no money in that district to borrow to carry on these improvements."

Another savings bank president said that while he had not studied the question to any great extent, he felt satisfied such a law would accomplish nothing in New York.

LINCOLN CENTS READY.

The new Lincoln cents coined at the mint in Philadelphia are ready for delivery. There are 150,000 in the vaults ready to be placed in circulation. The new pieces are much like the old ones, with the exception of the Indian head. In its place is a profile of Abraham Lincoln.

For Higher Standards of Banking

Clark Williams, superintendent of the Banking Department of New York State, made a strong plea before the Credit Men's Convention in Philadelphia for the absolute independence of banking department officials from political domination.

Capacity and efficiency for the particular duties devolving on such officials should be the sole considerations of their appointment. Mr. Williams is himself a striking example of the very thing he pleaded for. If ever there was an appointment absolutely free from political considerations it was that by which he came into office, says the Daily Banker and Stockholder. His influence in this office has been steadily in the direction of raising the standards of practical banking, even if some of the measures employed to that end have been a source of worry to some.

One of his most striking successes in office is the trust company reserve requirement. This has put an emergency cash reserve into the possession of these institutions that will equip them to meet conditions of demoralization such as we had in 1907. If he could now influence these institutions into a "community of interest" the aim of that legislation would be completely achieved.

Another is the statute which provides for the liquidation of a suspended bank in the interest of its depositors instead of the interest of its receivers.

Of the system of credits which Mr. Williams established in his department, he says:

"A feature of great value to the department and to the banks and trust companies under its supervision has been the establishment of a system of credits. On the occasion of each semi-annual examination by this department, it is the duty of the examiner to take off from the books of the bank or trust company a list of all loans in excess of certain amounts. These reports of all borrowings of corporations, firms and individuals are sent to the New York office of the department. There proper entry is made on cards of the names of the borrowers, by which the cards are indexed, and of the names of the institutions making the loans, and of the amounts of the indebtedness, and whether secured or unsecured. Excessive borrowing is thus revealed, and an opportunity afforded to the Superintendent to be helpful to the lending institutions in preventing loss. Moreover, when a failure occurs the department is enabled at once to know what institutions are affected and to what extent. The limitations of this system, in that it covers only the banking institutions of the State of New York, are apparent, but the evident purpose of the Comptroller of the Currency to co-operate by an exchange of credit information warrants the conclusion that the principle may be generally applied to the great advantage, not only of the supervisory departments, but of the banking institutions as a whole."

As to the importance of greater vigilance within the banks, Mr. Williams says:

"Of late there has been an awakening or public sentiment which has demanded in no uncertain terms a keener appreciation of responsibility by those having in their care the affairs of our financial institutions. I believe it to be the duty of the officers of every banking institution to adopt such means as are best calculated to keep their directors closely in touch with its affairs, not only by formal report, but by requiring their frequent personal examination of the cash, securities and loans. I believe in the frequent examination of banking institutions by committees of directors, chosen by lot if you please, but rotating in office, whose duty it should be to make a physical examination of the cash, securities and loans and the collateral securing the same, reporting the result of their examination to the board."

NEW BUREAU TO WATCH BANKS.

A plan to strengthen the supervision of the Comptroller's office over National banks has been worked out by Lawrence O. Murray, Comptroller of the Currency, to be put in operation July 1.

A Bureau of Credits is to be established and is to keep a list of large borrowers from banks and the lines of credit they obtain. Especially close watch is to be kept over undue extensions of credits and over-loans.

In this way the Comptroller believes he will be able to exercise surveillance over weak banks and prevent dangerous practices. It is expected to prevent large customers from "getting in" to excess on the banks.

OLD COUNTERFEIT $5 TURNS UP.

One of the most cleverly made counterfeit silver certificates ever discovered in this country found its way into the office of Secretary of State Koenig at Albany, N. Y., on June 22. This is the first time known that spurious money was ever turned in there and so unusual was the occurrence that an investigation was made and showed that the bill was one Government officials have been seeking for years. It is of series 1884 and is number 41,281,488. On the front are copies of the signatures of Ellis H. Roberts, Treasurer of the United States, and B. K. Bruce, Register of the Treasury. On the back are excellent likenesses of George and Martha Washington. The counterfeit passed through the hands of Cashier Sparer Prime, Sr., who took it to the First National Bank, where it was detected by the receiving teller.

CHICAGO BANKS MERGE.

The American Trust and Savings Bank and the Continental National Bank, two of Chicago's larger financial institutions, announced on June 23 that they had agreed to consolidate. The following signed statement was given out by George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental National Bank, and by Edwin A. Potter, president of the American Trust and Savings Bank:

"For a considerable time the Continental National Bank has had under consideration the formation of a trust and savings bank in conjunction with its business. To avoid forming two new institutions, the one National and the other State, the Continental National and the American Trust have agreed to consolidate and unify their interests. The Continental National will, conjointly with the American Trust, occupy the recently constructed American Trust Building.

"Under the arrangement entered into the banks each will retain its name, corporate existence and business. The capital stock of the Continental National will be increased from $4,000,000 to $9,000,000. Of the new issue of $5,000,000, $2,000,000 will be allotted to the present stockholders of the Continental National and will be sold to them on a basis that will equalize the book value of the stock of both banks. The remaining $3,000,000 will be exchanged, share for share, for the present $3,000,000 capital stock of the American Trust and Savings Bank. The capital stock and surplus of the two banks will be about $16,500,000.

"The board of the Continental National will be enlarged and the personnel of both banks will be the same. George M. Reynolds will continue to be president of the Continental National and Edwin A. Potter will continue to be president of the American Trust, and each will become the first vice-president of the other bank. The other officials and staffs of the two banks will continue."

The deposits of the Continental National Bank are $70,000,000. The deposits of the American Trust and Savings Bank are $32,550,000.

SAVINGS BANK ANNIVERSARY.

The Bowery Savings Bank has rounded out the seventy-five years of its existence by declaring the 150th consecutive dividend. Starting in June, 1834, with fifty depositors and $2,020 as the result of the first day's business, it now has over 155,000 depositors and $105,000,000 on deposit. During the past seventy-five years it has paid out over $86,000,000 in dividends alone.

TWENTY-FOUR YEARS IN SERVICE.

Capt. Thomas I. Porter was recently presented with a leather arm chair by his co-workers on completing his twenty-fourth year in the United States Secret Service.

NO MORE TYPEWRITER CHECKS.

In response to continued complaints from bankers and Sub-Treasuries regarding typewritten checks, Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh has issued the following circular:

"It is reported to the Department that there is a unanimous sentiment among the leading banks in the large cities, and in Sub-Treasury offices, against the use of the ordinary typewriter by United States disbursing officers in filling up checks; that experiments have proved that alterations may be easily and successfully made in such checks. As Assistant Treasurers and National bank depositaries are responsible for the proper payment of disbursing officers' checks, it is deemed proper to defer to their judgment as to the manner in which the checks are prepared. Department Circular No. 18, dated April 12, 1909, authorizing the use of a rubber stamp or typewriter to fill up checks is, therefore, hereby modified so as to require that the amounts of the checks and the names of the payees be filled in either with pen and ink or with the needle-point typewriter, which perforates the paper. The use of the ordinary typewriter for the purpose is hereby prohibited."

PAYS $20,000 FOR TWO RARE COINS.

Two coins, the only $50 gold pieces ever struck off by the Federal Government at the Philadelphia mint, created a sensation on June 11 at the dinner of the New York Numismatic Club held at Keene's Chop House in Thirty-fifth Street, New York City. The coins were purchased for $10,000 apiece by William H. Woodlin from John W. Haseltine and S. K. Nagy, of Philadelphia, and Mr. Woodlin says he would not take $50,000 each for them now.

The coins were minted in 1877 as the result of a demand from California for $50 and $100 gold pieces. The idea did not meet the approval of Congress, and after two samples had been made the dies were destroyed.

Searchers after rare coins have for a long time had their eyes turned toward these two coins, but until recently they were not for sale. The coins in design resemble a silver dollar, but are larger. On one side is a large head of "Liberty," surrounded by fifteen stars. On the reverse side is a spread eagle.

INVENTOR A "COINER."

Federal officers raided the home of John Pernat in the fashionable East End of Cleveland, and found a wagon load of molds, $93 in bogus dollars and much metal. They arrested Pernat and Emil Mikolich, a boarder, for counterfeiting. They were locked up in default of $3,000 bail each. Pernat, who is a well-known inventor, made a full confession.

New National Banks

A decided increase in the number of new National banks organized throughout the country during June is reported by the Comptroller of the Currency. The formation of new banks increases and decreases with the changes in business conditions. So that the June increase of new National banks is only another evidence of the decided change for the better that has come over our business affairs. The number of National banks authorized to begin business last month is 44. This compares with only 24 similarly authorized during May. May's record showed a loss from that of April, but the low monthly record was made in September, 1908, when only 14 new National banks were established. June's 44 new organizations come near to the average record which prevailed in recent good years. The high June record, since the remarkable business expansion period in which English deposits have been beginning in 1905, was made in 1907, when 55 new National banks were organized. In June, 1905, there were 48; the next year 42. Thus it appears that the last month's total is near the normal figure, a striking indication of the fact that the terror from which we have been suffering for nearly two years is practically over. While 44 National banks came into being during June, 15 banks of the same class went out of the system. These liquidations were chiefly for the purpose of conversion to the State systems, though there were several suspensions during the month. The conversions are chiefly in the States where the deposit guaranty system has been inaugurated, and this system proves chiefly attractive in Oklahoma. In Nebraska the effect of the act is in temporary suspension on account of a suit to test its constitutionality. In Kansas there is still much hesitancy among the National banks about taking advantage of the act since the formation of an independent deposit insurance business, through the agency of which the National banks hope to hold their depositors against the allurements of the State banks. At all events, the June record of new National banks is an exceedingly good one and emphasizes the improved conditions of enterprise now generally experienced.

During the five months of the present year 120 National banks were chartered. This compares with 174 for the same period last year, 230 in 1907 and 215 in 1906. Although organizations here show a heavy falling off, there seems to be a revival in the number of propositions for the formation of National banks submitted for the Comptroller's approval. Thus during the month of May no less than 50 applications were made for charters and 47 were approved, although only 24 banks completed their organizations. The promoting of new National banks, in at least four important States, has been practically abandoned on account of the attractions which the deposit guaranty act of these States offer.

BANKING IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Fifty-one joint stock banks are doing business in the United Kingdom to-day, whereas twenty years ago the number was 114. Thus in the last twenty years, a period in which English deposits have been doubled, the banks themselves have been reduced by more than one-half. The London Economist, in presenting its usual statement on this subject, notes that at present there seems to be no likelihood of amalgamations becoming less frequent, and when the next statement is published in October, the number of banks will have fallen certainly to 50 and possibly below 50. The North and South Wales Bank was amalgamated at the close of the year with the London City and Midland—the largest transaction of the kind that has taken place for several years. In order to carry it through the London City and Midland directors issued £636,250 of new stock, and as the capital of the North and South Wales had been only £750,000, there was a net reduction of £95,750. Altogether the two amalgamations that became effective in 1908 wiped out £810,150 of old capital and added £727,530, so that the change on balance was to reduce the aggregate by £92,620. On the other hand, Lloyds issued £320,000 to buy up Lambton & Co., and various banks made fresh additions to their capital for purposes other than amalgamation; these additions altogether amounted to £625,300, and subtracting from this sum the decrease of £92,620, a net addition of £532,682 to the capital of English joint stock banks is arrived at, against which allowance must be made for the wiping out of the capital and reserves of Lambton & Company, amounting to £685,790.

In Scotland and Ireland the passion for amalgamation appears to be held in check more easily, and the relative position of the banks is unchanged since December, 1907. There has, in fact, been no alteration in their capital, and the Scotch total still stands at £9,241,070, while the Irish is £7,309,231. In the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands the remaining banks still keep their independence, and the issued capital is unchanged at £80,000.

The capital and reserves of the private banks have been reduced from £4,156,597 to £3,474,844. It will be interesting to see whether the purchases of private banks are to continue much longer.

SOLD BAD BILLS ON SIDE.

The real thing in a green goods game, with the goods actually sold and no surreptitious exchange of satchels, was unfolded before United States Commissioner Shields when Fortueto Rossi was arraigned on a counterfeiting charge and held in $5,000 bail. Rossi has been an agent for a life insurance company, and "green goods," as it is said, was a "side line."

Five-dollar bills at $1.40 each was Rossi's specialty, according to what the Secret Service men who have been working on the case told the Commissioner. He was arrested at Eighteenth Street and Second Avenue, New York City, by two Government agents who had been watching his movements for several days. Rossi put up a fight, during which he threw away a package he had been carrying. One of the agents recovered it and found in it, he said, twenty-one $5 bills of the Indian head variety.

While Rossi is regarded as a single cog in a large wheel, it is a fact that between $10,000 and $20,000 of bad money has been passed within a radius of thirty miles of the post office within the last few months. Most of the bad bills have been 2's and 5s, and in the capture of Rossi the Secret Service men believe they have one of a big gang.

According to Captain Flynn, the manufacture of bills by Italian counterfeiters is somewhat new. Heretofore they have devoted their attention to coins.

GREAT WEST PERMANENT LOAN & SAVINGS COMPANY.

The sixth annual report of the Great West Permanent Loan and Savings Company contains a number of features which must be very pleasing and satisfactory to all who are in any way identified with that progressive Western financial institution.

It must have been with pardonable pride that the vice-president and manager, Mr. W. T. Alexander, stood up and stated that during the year 1908 the company paid two half-yearly dividends at the rate of 9 per cent. per annum, met all other interest charges, and cost of management, and still had a surplus of $130,947.07 to carry to the reserve fund. While dealing with this it might be in place to mention the fact that the reserve fund has grown from $27,767.21 in 1903 to the handsome sum of $400,781.23 in 1908, a most creditable record for any company to look back upon.

The company allows 4 per cent. on savings deposits, and judging by the growth made in this branch, it is evident the savings department will become a very important one. These facts and many others which are brought out fully in the report all indicate careful and wise management.

Mr. E. D. Martin, in seconding the adoption of the report announced that the directors believing that a Dominion charter would be more in keeping with the operations of the company, had applied for and secured it. This change from a Provincial to a Dominion charter will give the company greater prestige and enable it to enter larger fields.

The Great West Permanent, during its six years of existence, has made phenomenal progress. With wider powers, with offices located in the principal strategic centres of a country so full of potentialities as Western Canada, we look forward to this progressive Western institution measuring up fully to its opportunities and responsibilities as it has in the past.

QUEBEC BANK.

The report of the ninety-first annual meeting of the Quebec Bank shows that the net profits on the year's operations were sufficiently large to pay the usual dividend of 7 per cent. per annum. In addition to this, $5,000 was added to the Pension Fund and $39,671.55 placed to the credit of profit and loss.

New branches of the bank have been opened at the following points during the year: In Quebec, at Farnham, Stanfold, and St. John Street, Quebec, and Renfrew, Ont.

Since the last annual meeting Mr. Thomas McDougall, who has served the bank so well for thirty-nine years, resigned from the general managership, his place being filled by Mr. R. B. Stevenson.

Counterfeit National Bank Notes

The following is a complete list of all counterfeits on the National Banks that have been presented at the United States Treasury Department, and embraces all that are in circulation. National bank notes are divided into four classes, as follows: First, The old series, bearing the small star-pointed seal, and signed by F. E. Spinner as Treasurer. Second, The series of 1875, bearing the scalloped seal, and signed by John C. New, A. U. Wyman and Jas. Gilfillan as Treasurers. Third, The series of 1882, bearing the large seal (chocolate color), and signed by Jas. Gilfillan, A. U. Wyman and C. N. Jordan as Treasurers. Fourth, The series of 1902, bearing the scalloped seal and signed by Ellis H. Roberts and Charles H. Treat as Treasurers. All of these series have been counterfeited. All notes known as the old series (having the star-pointed seal) were printed on plain bank-note paper. The series of 1875, 1882 and 1902 are printed on fibre paper. The series of 1875 have the charter number printed in large bold-faced figures on each end of note. The series of 1882 have the charter number printed in large figures on the note, and engraved in small figures surrounding the face of note; back of note, the charter number is printed in large figures in green panel centre of note. The series of 1902 have the charter number printed in large red figures on each end of note and engraved in small figures in border surrounding the face of note, also one of the following letters in red near the charter number on each end of note: N, E, M, W, S or P, which denotes in which group of States the bank that issued the note is situated. N denotes a New England State, E an Eastern, M a Middle, W a Western, S a Southern, and P a Pacific State.

All notes have the check letters A, B, C, D, printed on the face of note in upper and lower corners, diagonally opposite. A few banks have been furnished with notes bearing other letters of the alphabet, of which F, G, M, R and U have been counterfeited.

Photographic notes are not dangerous, as no invention has been perfected by which the various colors on a note can be produced. When a genuine note is photographed, the colors upon the counterfeit, originally, appear in black, the numbers and seals on the notes being in colors. It has been necessary, in order to imitate them perfectly, to color by hand in various ways. On the first counterfeits that appeared of this class the work was done in a careless manner, the tints produced being of a bad color, the black underneath showing through. On many of the recent counterfeits, the tints of the seals and numbers are excellent, but as a general rule photographic counterfeits are not dangerous. This class of counterfeits bear different numbers, and the numbers cannot be relied upon as a means of detection.

DESCRIPTION OF GENUINE NOTE

On genuine, left end of note, vignette represents Franklin, with kite in hand, experimenting with electricity, with assistant seated on rock near him. Leyden jar in foreground and 1752 in lower left corner. Right end vignette represents female on eagle soaring above clouds snatching the lightning, to represent genius of America seizing and utilizing lightning of heaven. On counterfeit the post in vignette, lower left corner, was made perfect or plain; the genuine at one-fourth inch from the ground shows a knot hole or nick. Back of note, vignette represents De Soto discovering Mississippi in 1541. All notes of this denomination prior to series of 1882 had green border backs, and those of series 1882 have brown border backs, with charter number of bank in green panel, centre of note, in place of De Soto vignette. The series of 1902 has portrait of William McKinley on left side face of note. The number panel is below portrait, large denomination counter in upper right corner and smaller denomination counters in upper and lower left corners. On the back is vignette, Female figure, Navy and Merchant Marine. Legend with small denomination counter in center, base of note.

ONE HUNDREDS

DESCRIPTION OF GENUINE NOTE

On genuine note, left end vignette represents Commodore Perry leaving his flagship "Lawrence;" above is large ornamental "C" and "100." Right end vignette represents angel with coronet, on which is "Liberty," her hands extended towards fasces planted on rock, entwined by wreaths and belts, latter bearing "The" and "Union," at right, "maintain it" in burst of sunlight; whole designed to represent Genius of America invoking aid of heaven to maintain and preserve the Union; above vignette is "100" and "C." Back, vignette represents Declaration of American Independence, July 4, 1776. All notes prior to series of 1882 had green border backs; those of 1882 have brown border backs with charter number of bank in green panel, instead of vignette Declaration of American Independence. The series of 1902, on left side of face of note, has portrait of John J. Knox, with number panel below portrait. Large denomination counter in upper right and lower left corners; small denomination counter in lower right corner. On the back of the note is vignette, two Male figures, eagle, shield and flags in centre of note, with legend and vista of Capitol and Monument at base.

DESCRIPTION OF COUNTERFEITS

State.	City.	Bank.	Check Letter.	Date or Series.	Charter No. of Genuine.
Mass.	Boston	First National	A	Feb. 2, 1864	200
		On genuine, vignette, left end, water drops from both sides of bow oar; on counterfeit from only one side. Crossing of letter "T" omitted in "MAINTAIN" on right end of counterfeit. This defect is often mended by reprint, pen or pencil, but not so as to deceive close observers. On the genuine bills the sailor, standing in the bow of the boat, has a medium-sized head and face with a partly opened mouth; on counterfeits the same man has a large, broad head and face, a closed mouth, and broad, full forehead. On the back of the genuine bills the lettering of the several panels is properly punctuated. In the counterfeits the lower panel containing a quotation from the law against counterfeiting, on second line, after the word "IT" a comma is omitted, and after the word "PRINTED" on the fourth line in same panel.
	Boston	National Revere	A	July 20, 1865	1295
		The genuine note has space of 1-16th of an inch between edge of wing of figure of Liberty and shading of letter "C" in upper right corner; on counterfeit about half the distance. On genuine, in vignette, left end, water drops from both sides of bow oar; on counterfeit but from one side. On genuine, distance between wing of figure of Liberty and foot of check-letter A is over 3-16ths of an inch; on counterfeit hardly 1/8 of an inch. On genuine a line drawn sharply under words, "with the U. S. Treasurer at Washington," if extended strikes the lower lip of figure of Liberty; on counterfeit it strikes the chin. Face of sailor in counterfeit, bow of boat, resembles a skeleton or death's head. On the back of the genuine bills, in the upper lettered panel, on the third line, right, the words "OTHER DEBTS" are properly spaced. In the counterfeit the "R" in "OTHER" joins the "D" in "DEBTS," and the "D" is raised above the letters preceding.

Instructive Guides

U. S. Notes of date 1862 and 1863 have no jute or fibre in the paper.

Series of 1869, 1874, 1875 or 1878 are printed on a distinctive fibre paper known as the Wilcox patent.

Series of 1880 are printed on paper having a red and blue silk thread running from end to end, one at the top and the other at the bottom of the note, and shreds of red and blue silk fibre scattered all through the paper, and known as the Crane patent. Then the scattered threads were discontinued, leaving only the parallel threads or one of them. Then, later on, was adopted the new kind of paper, having only the scattered threads localized in two bars, one across each end of bill.

The counterfeits of U. S. Notes, of dates 1862 and 1863, also some of Series 1875, bear the small red seal, pointed (old seal).

Counterfeit 50's and 500's of Series 1869, and some counterfeits of Series 1880 bear the large red seal, lathe work points.

Some 20's and 10's (1880) bear large red seal, plain border.

Few large chocolate seals, lathe work points, are counterfeited on any bills.

Very few National Bank bills bearing red pointed seal have any fibre in paper.

Series of 1875 (all of which have the red scalloped seal) are either printed on jute fibre paper, or the silk line paper, the same as used for the U. S. Notes, Series of 1880.

Series of 1882, bearing the brown scalloped seal, such are also printed on the same silk line paper as the U. S. Notes, Series of 1880.

The check-letters, A, B, C or D, referred to in the body of this DETECTOR, are all printed in black ink on the face of U. S. Notes and National Bank Bills, as well as on the Bills of the Dominion of Canada. Some U. S. National Banks have been supplied with other letters.

THE NUMBER SYSTEM.

All Government Notes—but not National Bank Bills—are printed of one denomination four on a sheet, and lettered respectively A, B, C or D. Each note also bears a Treasury number, and divide this number or only the last two figures of it by four, and if the remainder is one then the check letter should be A; if two remainder then B; if three remainder then C; and if no remainder then D. If the result shows otherwise then the numbering is wrong, and hence the bill is a counterfeit. Wrong numbering will detect a very large number of the counterfeits in circulation, but some counterfeits, however, are correct.

UNITED STATES NOTES AND CERTIFICATES.

The old issue of United States notes was divided into four series, all of which were signed by L. E. Chittenden as Register and F. E. Spinner as Treasurer. The series of 1869 were signed by John Allison as Register and F. E. Spinner as Treasurer. Of the series of 1875, numerous counterfeits have appeared, from the 1's to the 50's. Notes of this issue are signed by John Allison, Register, and John C. New, A. U. Wyman and Jas. Gilfillan as Treasurers. Of the series of 1878, but two denominations have been counterfeited, the 10's and 20's, and of the series of 1880, the 2's, 5's, 10's, 20's, 50's and 100's.

On both the United States notes and gold and silver certificates there are usually small engraved figures under the check letter. They represent the number of the plate from which the note is printed, and are used as a means of identification of the printers through whose hands the note passed. As many as 60 plates may be used at one time in printing notes of one denomination, and each plate has its own number. The small figures have been printed on all notes since 1862.

No gold certificates have been issued below the denomination of $10. All certificates are issued and numbered the same as Treasury notes, and are check-lettered in their order on each sheet.

Only three denominations of gold certificates have been counterfeited, the 10's, 20's and 100's.

Six denominations of silver certificates have been counterfeited, the 1's, 2's, 5's, 10's, 20's and 100's.

All U. S. Treasury notes issued prior to 1869 were printed on plain bank note paper. All issued since, commencing with the series of 1869, are printed on fibre paper. Many of the old issues were counterfeited, as the paper used had no special distinctive feature, engraving being mainly relied on by the Government to prevent imitation. As numerous counterfeits appeared on the old issues, the Government was obliged to adopt, in 1869, a special paper, the distinctive feature of which was a narrow localized tint of short blue fibre running the entire length of the sheet in such a manner as not to lessen its strength or interfere with the printing. When examined under the microscope, these fibres have the appearance of coarse black hairs, of different lengths and shapes, scattered promiscuously, regardless of regularity, over the entire surface. This paper is known as the Wilcox patent. In 1878 another feature of fibre paper was adopted, somewhat similar, with two silk threads running lengthwise throughout the note. This is known as the Crane patent.

New series 77, and new series. Good counterfeits. Engraving well done; general appearance good. Lettering well engraved and shading regular, yet heavier than genuine. Lathe work around figure 5 on counter, right upper corner face of bill, appears good at first sight, yet when inspected is found to lack very fine continuous lines of genuine. Vignette of Hamilton almost as finely engraved as genuine and presents a very fair likeness. Vignette Statue of Liberty, left end, not so carefully finished; general features of statue and its drapery are discernible, but details are imperfect or wanting. On left hand of the figure (the side toward the body of the note) drapery below knee does not show ornamental ball-tassels as prominent as on genuine. Lathe work back of note defective.

Fair. Most noticeable defects color of Treasury numbers, seal and vignette in lower right corner. Treasury numbers irregular in formation and darker blue than genuine. Small scalloped seal brick-red instead of earmine. Vignette of Columbus presenting America to Europe, Asia and Africa has blurred appearance; folds of coat on Columbus scarcely distinguishable; skirt of Indian girl, particularly fur border at bottom, very plain in genuine, cannot be seen in counterfeit, all being blurred. Lathe work and portrait of Webster good. Lettering has flat appearance, not standing out boldly. Two pieces of paper, between which silk fibre is placed, closely imitating the genuine, but surface is raised over fibre, and may be felt by rubbing the finger over it.

B. K. Bruce, Register.

D

Series 1880.
A. U. Wyman, Treasurer.

Photographic pen and ink counterfeit. General appearance good. Lathe work poor. Portrait of Webster and vignette well done. Imprint at top omitted. Words "Series of," over 1880, upper left corner, omitted, also words "Register of the Treasury" and "Treasurer of the United States," under signatures of B. K. Bruce and A. U. Wyman. Lathe work on back poor; green ink can be removed by moistening. Attempt to imitate fibre paper by printing blue and red lines lengthwise. Large brown spike seal. Several of these counterfeits have check letter D changed to L, and A. U. Wyman to James Gilfillan as Treasurer. No genuine U. S. note has check letter L, as the Government uses only four check letters on U. S. notes: A, B, C, D. Other letters appear on National Bank notes only.

A 249

Series 1901.
Ellis H. Roberts, Treasurer.

Good counterfeit, excepting slight off-color of red seal, especially large red X with word "Ten" across it. Front and back printed on separate pieces of thin paper, having coarse silk fibre between and pasted together, which makes the bill stiffer than genuine; some bills lack fibre. Delicate lines too heavy. Bill lacks that nice, clean look, with contrast of light work and heavily shaded parts, of genuine. On close examination through a magnifying glass, the engraving of the two lines over large red X, AUTHORIZED BY THE LEGAL TENDER ACTS OF 1862 AND 1863, in counterfeit, appear heavy and letters broken and crooked, while in genuine they are even and clear. Words "Treasurer of the United States," under signature of Ellis H. Roberts, also a poor piece of work, capital "U" in "United" being broken. Below the large words "The United States of America" are horizontal or parallel lines, but such lack cross lines that should be there. The same applies also to background of portraits. Portraits of Lewis and Clark good, also the buffalo. Different numbers appear on different notes. Back of note looks well.

Legal Tender Acts of 1862 and 1863.
J. W. Lyons, Register.

J. W. Lyons, Register.

A 272

Series 1901.
Ellis H. Roberts, Treasurer.

Dangerous. Most noticeable defect is buffalo, centre of note, which has appearance of pen work, but is not. Portrait of Lewis unnatural, but that of Clark very good. Lettering good. Color Treasury numbers and seal good. Two pieces of paper of good quality, with silk threads between, which are coarse. Counterfeit has a period between "Washington" and "D. C.," instead of comma.

Legal Tender Acts of 1862 and 1863.

Good lithograph. Silk thread in imitation of fibre. Most noticeable defect is color of ink, which is gray-black instead of brilliant black. Color of numbers and seal good. Lettering of note well done, but portraits of Lewis and Clark and buffalo are scratchy, and do not stand out as clear as in the genuine. Back of buffalo appears as if sun was shining brightly upon it.

Legal Tender Acts of 1862 and 1863.
J. W. Lyons, Register.

B 202

Series 1901.
Ellis H. Roberts, Treasurer.

Dangerous. Lettering very good, lathe work only fair. Portraits of Lewis and Clark, while good, have not lifelike appearance of genuine. In female figure, right end of note, the navel is visible; on genuine it is not. Color of Treasury numbers brown-red instead of carmine-red, and figures not as heavy as genuine. Lathe work at first sight is good, but examination will show it is broken. Head of buffalo appears flat, while in genuine it is natural shape. Back of note good but off color, having a faded tinge. Contains silk fibre, but not as plentiful as the genuine. Note has wax or shiny appearance.

Very dangerous. Printed from engraved plates. Most noticeable defects are in portrait of Hamilton; nose, instead of being round on end, is brought to a sharp point; chin, instead of being double, square; head, from back of hair to tip of nose, on line of ear, is fraction of inch wider than genuine work on coat gives flat effect and merges into background in lower part of portrait. In border small figures "20" omitted between XX (thus: X20X). In octagonal ornament under word "Washington" centre face of note, detail is so blurred that little eight-pointed star forming centre of ornament does not stand out in relief as in genuine. Paper of very deceptive character and has distributed fibre.

Series 1880.
A. U. Wyman, Treasurer.

Excellent. Description of three preceding counterfeit $20 notes applies to this. These bear large round seal, large spiked seal, and also scalloped seal, all finely executed and of excellent color.

Other counterfeit notes of this series bear same check letters, and are signed W. S. Rosecrans, Register, and C. N. Jordan, J. N. Huston, Jas. W. Hyatt and E. H. Nebeker, Treasurer of the United States. Several of these counterfeits have been seen with series 1880 changed to 1889, also to 1890. All genuine notes of this act and denomination bear portrait of Hamilton of series of 1889 or of 1890. All genuine $20 notes bearing portrait, Hamilton, this design, are of series of 1875, 1878 or 1880.

Dangerous. Engraving of portrait very good. Buttons on Hamilton's coat not as distinct as on genuine. In lower part of figure "0" in large counters "50" on each end of note a white line crosses that figure "0;" in counterfeit it does not. On back, in border, small 50's are inclosed in lines—octagonal—but on lower left end of note two of these octagonal forms lap.

Altered notes. Very dangerous. Made by raising genuine notes. By error, certain notes 2s and 50s bear same vignette head of Hamilton. On genuine fifties vignette head of Hamilton is at top of note; on the twos and raised note, it is at bottom. Vignette head of Hamilton has often been cut from genuine twos, the back removed and the face neatly cemented over the inferior work of poor counterfeit fifties, which were thus made passable.

One of the most dangerous counterfeits ever issued. Engraving excellent, numbering good, lath work fair. On genuine, back of note, small 50's in border are surrounded by octagons; on counterfeit they are circles. Two of these circles on lower left end are run together, omitting cipher, which makes figures read 550. Description of New Series 1, preceding, applies to this note. Portrait of Hamilton.

Color of seal excellent. Parallel silk threads run lengthwise in genuine notes, imitated by drawing fine blue lines and creasing note over lines.

C 17

Series 1880.

Dangerous. Portrait of Franklin very clear, except line of mouth and opening of ear, more pronounced. Small scalloped carmine-red seal closely resembles genuine. Words "Act of March 3, 1863," over portrait of Franklin, also name "Benjamin Franklin," under portrait, the words "Engraved and Printed Bureau Engraving and Printing," to left of portrait of Franklin, and word "Series" over letter "N" in "United States," are omitted on face. Penalty for "Counterfeiting" in panel left end back, words "Series of 1880" in panel in right end back and imprint "Bureau Engraving and Printing, Washington, D. C.," in centre lower border back, are omitted. Paper of good quality, and distributed red and blue silk fibre is cleverly imitated by red and blue ink lines. Other counterfeits are likely to appear, differing in number, seal and check letter, and bearing other signatures.

FIVE HUNDREDS

Act of March 3, 1863.
John Allison, Register.

B C D

Series 1869.
F. E. Spinner, Treasurer.

One of most dangerous counterfeits in existence. Engraving and workmanship nearly equal to genuine. Lathe work excellent. Treasury numbers fair and color of ink good. Star on right of Treasury number blurred. Portrait of J. Q. Adams excellent, but lobe of ear is indistinct. In counterfeit, button upon coat, nearest lapel, almost square; in genuine it is round. Vignette of figure Justice finely engraved, except following: As scale is held aloft in left hand, upright holding beam is crooked, and is larger than in genuine; in genuine, upright shows only to lower part of hand, while in counterfeit it shows to second finger from base; white curve in arm is a perfect oval in genuine; in counterfeit it is not. Left foot of vignette, as it extends from garment, presents a clubbed appearance in counterfeit, while toes are short and not one-half length of genuine. Parallel ruling is excellent. Note is printed on fibre paper, signed "John Allison, Register," and "F. E. Spinner, Treasurer." Bankers and others should receive these notes with great care, as it is only by comparison with genuine that majority of experts can positively decide as to genuineness of a note of this class. Nearly all of this issue have been retired by Treasury, very few genuine notes now being in circulation. These notes should be received for collection only.

ONE THOUSANDS

Act of March 3, 1863.
L. E. Chittenden, Register.

A B C D

Dated March 10, 1862, and March 10, 1863.
F. E. Spinner, Treasurer.

Very dangerous. Engraving nearly equal to genuine. A mistake was made in genuine issue under this act, which counterfeiters copied, that of dating notes March 10, 1862, instead of 1863. This error was corrected in a subsequent issue of the genuine. On face of counterfeit lathe work in the border and on corner is much inferior to genuine. On left end of face, in border, words "Act of March 3, 1863," much coarser. Circles of 1,000 surrounding portrait of Morris much more irregular than in genuine. On counterfeit face of Morris is more front view. On genuine eyes cast more to left. Imprint "American Bank Note Co.," on right end of border is much narrower than on genuine. On back of note the four points at each end of note are much more pointed than on genuine. These differences were all noted by comparison with a genuine note of same date and check letter. Very few genuine notes of this denomination and issue are in circulation. Bankers and others are warned to handle these notes with great care.

General appearance excellent, except Treasury numbers, which are more of a brown-red than bright carmine-red of genuine. Portrait of General McPherson, while fairly well engraved, appears sunk in background. Geometric lathe-work and parallel ruling poorly executed. Red scalloped seal excellent in workmanship and color. Face and back evidently printed on separate pieces of paper and pasted together, with silk threads between. Treasury numbers very dark blue, instead of ultramarine blue. Figures in numbers vary in size. Geometrical lathe-work surrounding large figure 2 in upper right corner well executed. No attempt to imitate silk threads running lengthwise; some, however, are heavily creased in imitation of silk threads. Act of Aug. 4, 1886.
W. S. Rosecrans, Register.

C 1858

Series 1886.

Dangerous. Treasury numbers well done, but figures not as heavy as genuine. Portrait of Gen. Hancock well engraved, also geometrical lathe-work and parallel ruling. In upper left and lower right corner in figure 2 of genuine is engraved in three places word "TWO." A good microscope shows that in ball of 2 letters "OWT" are engraved, but this defect would not be discovered except with powerful glass. Has small round carmine seal. Silk threads running lengthwise missing, but notes are heavily creased to imitate them. A second issue has appeared with silk threads actually running through paper.

Act of Aug. 4, 1886.

D 2235

Series 1886.
James W. Hyatt, Treasurer.

Very dangerous. Check letter B, plate number 2235. Treasury numbers very good. Portrait of Gen. Hancock well engraved, but hair and mustache do not appear brushed as smooth as in genuine; star on right shoulder imperfect. Color of large spiked seal good, but a shade lighter than genuine. In upper left and lower right corner in figure 2 of genuine word "TWO" is engraved in three places. A good microscope shows that in ball of the 2 on counterfeit the letters "OWT" are engraved, but this defect is revealed only by a strong glass. In words "United," in "Treasurer of the United States," under signature of James W. Hyatt, "i" and "t" extend a little below other letters. Top of upper loop of "J" in "James W. Hyatt" is directly under letter "D" in "D. C." in counterfeit, while in genuine it comes between "D" and "C." This point, however, does not apply to counterfeit on B1863 and C1857, also bearing signature of James W. Hyatt. The silk fibre imitated by drawing fine blue lines through the body. Back is exceedingly well executed. A second issue has appeared with two parallel silk threads actually in the paper.

A third issue has appeared with error of word Two, mentioned above, corrected.

A fourth issue has appeared, differing from previous three issues only in that it has small carmine red seal.

A fifth issue has appeared, differing from previous four issues only in that it has large spiked chocolate-colored seal.

J. Fount Tillman, Register.

C 19

Series 1891.
D. N. Morgan, Treasurer.

Dangerous. Most distinguished defect absence of pronounced white circles around pupils of eyes in portrait of William Windom. Roll of lapel of coat, left of portrait, less clearly depicted than in genuine. Treasury numbers a trifle brighter in color than genuine and not in line. Seal decided pink instead of bright carmine, blurred in appearance. Shading around head in Windom portrait heavier, and very heavy shading occurs over eyes and under nose and chin. Paper of excellent quality, has silk fibre, but thread slightly coarser and red silk darker than in genuine. Back almost perfect, but geometrical work somewhat blurred, in star around small "2" under large "2" on right, four half round shadings making points are scarcely perceptible, while very prominent in genuine.

Counterfeits bearing other Treasury numbers than above mentioned are in circulation, numbers being almost perfect and equal in size. Seal also closely resembles genuine in color.

Good. Portrait "Onepapa." Most noticeable defect is the portrait, which appears much darker than and does not stand out nor have the life-like appearance of genuine. Color of seal, numeral "V" and word "FIVE" over the numeral in counterfeit lighter blue than genuine. Horizontal stroke in middle of stop at end of Treasury number, in counterfeit, is an elongated diamond in shape; in genuine, stroke is shaped like upper part of an exclamation point placed horizontally. Lathe-work, except in upper right corner, will not stand investigation. Paper fair quality, containing distributed silk fibre.

A second issue of this counterfeit bears check letter A and plate No. 32.

A 609

Series 1899.

Chas. H. Treat, Treasurer.

Photomechanical process. Paper fair; fibre imitated by red and blue ink lines. In portrait of Indian, face appears too stout and more of a female face than the typical male; eyes very poorly portrayed; feathers and regalia poorly done. Numbering a trifle lighter and out of alignment. Seal and large numeral "5" lighter blue than genuine. Wording over seal at right end is "Series of 1889" instead of "1899," as in genuine, but in lower left corner is correct and both are much blurred. The title "Register of the Treasury" under J. W. Lyons' name, poorly done, and period omitted after word "Treasury." The title "Treasurer of the United States," under Chas. H. Treat's name, also poorly done, none of the t's being crossed, and the period omitted after word "States." The three periods in Chas. H. Treat's name omitted. Lathe work, both front and back, fairly done. Green color of back fair.

A 652

Series 1889.

Ellis H. Roberts, Treasurer.

Dangerous photomechanical production. Printed on two pieces of paper, with distributed silk fibre between them in imitation of genuine. Face plate number 652; back plate number 493. Portrait of "Onepapa." Seal, denominational design, and serial number, all lighter than genuine in color. Word "treasurer," under signature of Roberts, badly printed and letters imperfectly formed. The fine cross-hatching in background of portrait of "Onepapa" is only suggested in counterfeit, where these lines appear coarse and badly broken. The lines forming shading of the blue denominational figure on left of note are thicker than genuine and much broken. On back of note the words "this certificate is receivable, etc.," very badly reproduced, lines broken and letters imperfectly formed. Word "five," back of note immediately to the right of the panel containing the words "United States of America," is very imperfectly reproduced. Shading under the words "United States of America" in counterfeit irregular in formation, with lines running all the way from dark shading to bottom of panel. Color of back nearly approximates that of genuine, being a trifle darker.

Photo-etched, on good paper with ink lines for silk threads. Does not have brilliant looking new inks and paper, but like an old bill has dull black and colored inks and a yellow-white paper. Blue ink too light. On head-gear of Indian is a mass of small dots, not like genuine, fine white feather work. Under large words "United States" there is not the band of solid black shading with further shading below it, but it is run together and irregular. Lower left corner "Series of 1899" looks larger, too prominent and too dark, like white letters in a black panel. Back has too light green ink, and all lathe-work badly broken up.

C 806

Series 1899.
Chas. H. Treat, Treasurer.

Very dangerous. Portrait of Indian. Paper same thickness as genuine. Silk fibre imitated by blue and red ink lines. Indian has a frowning expression, pupils or eyes not showing as in genuine, and counterfeit the locket on Indian's chest is too white, lacking shading of genuine. In genuine the tail feathers hanging from Indian's head on each side have a light shading, while in counterfeit they are dark and blurred. Counterfeit has "Series 1890" under serial number on lower left side of note; "Series 1889" over seal on right side of note; both should be "1899." In signature of Treasurer Treat the periods have been omitted after "Chas", "H" and the final ending of the name. The "H" and "T" are also disconnected, while in genuine they are connected. In "Treasurer of the United States," under signature of Chas. H. Treat, the words "Treasurer" and "of" run together like one word, the letters are irregular, the letters "t" not all crossed and letter "n" in "United" broken. Lathe work, both front and back, a good imitation. Back plate number 553.

Chas. H. Treat, Treasurer.

Very dangerous. Face apparently a photographic platinum print. Face and back plate number indistinct or missing. General effect very closely approximates genuine. Color of seal, denomination, design and numbers darker than genuine, seal being particularly bad and suggesting brush work. The last three letters of "bearer," the word "on" and the first two letters of "demand" in script, right face of note, appear to have been placed on with a pen or brush. Back of note deceptive, but blue-green and darker than genuine. Note is particularly deceptive from the fact that it is printed on genuine paper obtained by bleaching a note of smaller denomination. In bleaching the note the color has been taken out of some of the distributed silk fibre lying close to the surface, but the deeply imbedded fibre is still visible in the paper, though the blue has been changed to a purple and the red somewhat lightened.

Act of Aug. 4, 1886.
W. T. Vernon, Register.

D 2

Series 1899.
Chas. H. Treat, Treasurer.

Dangerous photomechanical production. One piece of heavy bond paper of good quality. Portrait of "Onepapa." A defect in plate gives to Indian chief a cross-eyed expression. Blue seal closely approximates genuine in color but badly printed, being rough and coarse with many broken lines. Blue ink of seal and numbers lacks metallic gloss of genuine. In "stop" at right end of number (upper right face of note) small blue triangles which are so sharply defined and perfectly formed in genuine, are rounded at corners. This is true, but to a less extent, with reference to "stop" in number on lower left face of note. Back of note is a very deceptive piece of work, and except for being a little lighter, closely approximates genuine in color. No attempt to imitate distributed fibre. Back plate number 66.

Back plate number shadowy—probably 567; portrait of "Onepapa." Photo-mechanical production of deceptive character except as to paper—two pieces pasted together with fibre between—which is stiff. Almost all the fine up-stroke lines in script lettering on face of note are lost, and in Indian's feather war bonnet the fine detail of feathers is wholly missing and there appears simply a blank space between lower and upper ends of feathers. General appearance good. Back blue-green in tint.

Fair. Photo-mechanical process. Back plate number 782. Face of note very heavy black, and that part of script lettering that crosses blue seal and denominational character has apparently been filled in by hand, and very poorly done. The "e" in "demand" not formed well. Second "e" in "bearer," instead of being loop "e", is like reverse figure "3." The "b" in "payable" looks more like an "l" than a "b." Fine hair lines forming a double line inside large figures "5" on both face and back, as well as letter "V" in centre back of note, missing. Top of large figure "5", upper left end of back, bulges upward instead of being concave, making it much thicker than genuine.

Well executed. Portrait of Daniel Manning. A white line separating left side face from background portrait gives it appearance of being sunk in background instead of standing out in bold relief. Has large eight-scallop seal instead of small twelve-scallop seal. Good paper with distributed silk fibre.

Series 1891.

A very dangerous counterfeit. Most noticeable defect is in portrait. In genuine, Monroe represented as having pronounced cheek bones, one on left side of face being particularly prominent, while in counterfeit left cheek bone is missing, making face appear narrower than in genuine, and giving counterfeit different expression. In genuine right ear plainly parts hair, which is brushed upward in front and back of ear, while in counterfeit hair hides top of ear, and is not brushed upward. In name "James" under portrait letters "J" and "A" are not uniform with rest of letters, and bottom of "J" has more of upward loop than in genuine. Geometric lathe work, lettering, numbering and parallel ruling in panel in which Treasury numbers appear are almost equal to genuine, but a critical examination will show parallel lines to be somewhat broken, particularly in lower left border. Treasury numbers are almost perfect, both in color and formation, but the figure 5 in the Treasury number is different, the space within lower loop being oblong, up and down, instead of being round, and space below top line of 5 is too narrow. One of the best points is the top button of waistcoat; this counterfeit top button has lines on it up and down only, and they show well and distinct, while genuine top button alone is cross lined (lines up and down and crosswise also), but these lines are delicate, and by wear, bad printing, dirt, etc., they may thus be wanting or overlooked. Geometrical lathe work and lettering on back of note to the naked eye appears as good as genuine. Back plate No. 2.

TENS

Act of July 12, 1882.
W. T. Vernon, Register.

D 7

Series 1907.
Chas. H. Treat, Treasurer.

Face plate number 7. Portrait of Hillegas. Photo-mechanical production on two pieces of paper with distributed red and blue silk fibre, much finer and more hair-like than genuine. Color of seal, denominational "X" and back all darker than genuine. Portrait of Hillegas is poorly executed. In upper-border design on face of genuine, under line "This certifies there have been deposited in the Treasury of the" there is an ornamental arc finished at each end by a scroll. In genuine this arc is about 1-16th of an inch wide, is marked by a series of distinct and regular perpendicular lines. In counterfeit this arc looks as if it had been executed with a pen, is blurred and scratched, and individuality of perpendicular lines almost disappears. General effect of back, aside from the darker color, better than face, but close inspection discloses work so inferior that it cannot be mistaken as genuine.

A

Series 1882.
James Gilfillan, Treasurer.

Dangerous, for apart from counters containing figures 20 on face and portrait of Garfield there is little of the gray of photograph about it. Seal small and scalloped, having reddish tinge, apparently applied with brush. Numbering very pronounced and heavier than genuine. Note one-half inch shorter and one-eighth narrower than genuine. Has two parallel silk threads running through it. Tint on back light brown instead of orange. Persons handling gold notes must not forget that in this counterfeit they are left to determine its character by its tints rather than by lines in engraving, since it is a photograph of genuine work.

Series 1906.

Photo-etched. Two pieces of paper with silk threads between. Portrait of Washington fairly good. The XX, seal and numbers more of a lemon color than orange. Lathe work on face poor. Words "Act of July 12, 1882," face of note over check letter B, heavy and irregular. Titles "Register of the Treasury" and "Treasurer of the United States," under Vernon's and Treat's names, broken and indistinct. Back fair color, but no attempt has been made to imitate lathe work or other fine details.

ONE HUNDREDS

B 5

Department Series.
Ellis H. Roberts, Treasurer.

A good counterfeit. Bears the Treasury numbers C424363 and C324369, and no doubt bear other numbers. The color of these numbers is good, but not the bright ultramarine blue of the genuine. The portrait of Benton does not stand out in bold relief and lifelikeness as does the genuine. The lathe work surrounding the denomination 100 in upper right of note is flat, broken and has blurred appearance. Lettering on note good, except imprint under signatures of Lyons and Roberts, which is poor. Color of the word "GOLD" on face of note is unlike that on genuine, and color of the back, instead of the bronze-yellow on the genuine, the counterfeit is a light salmon color. Counterfeit has the silk distributed fibre imitated cleverly with pen and ink scratches, and by holding note between the light and the eyes the absence of silk fibre will be noted. On genuine in script line at top of note in the word "deposited" the "i" is distinctly dotted; in counterfeit it is not.

While we speak of the color of the yellow (gold) ink on the gold certificates being off color, etc., it is a fact that the Government so far has been unable to procure an ink that will stand climatic changes, etc.

Counterfeits of Interest-Bearing Notes and Bonds

$10 Compound Interest Treasury Note. Letter C. Act of June 30, 1864—October 15th, 1864. Signed S. B. Colby, Register, and F. E. Spinner, Treasurer. Number 198380. Photograph of the brownish color of old fading photographic work. Figure of woman. Vignette of Chase.

$50 Compound Interest Treasury Note. Series 1864. Letter C. Date July 15, 1864. Act June 30, 1864. Signed L. E. Chittenden, Register, and F. E. Spinner, Treasurer. The portrait and vignette of Hamilton a poor quality of work, and the numbers also are poorly done. Plates captured in July, 1866.

$50 Compound Interest Treasury Note. Check Letter D. Date, December, 1864. Act June 30, 1864. Signed S. B. Colby, Register, and F. E. Spinner, Treasurer. A poor counterfeit. Portrait of Hamilton.

$50 Compound Interest Treasury Note. Series 1865. Letter D. Date May 15, 1865. Act June 30, 1864. Plates captured July, 1866.

$50 Series 1865. Letter C. Date July 15, 1865. Act March 3, 1865. Signed S. B. Colby, Register, and F. E. Spinner, Treasurer. Eagle vignette. Interest 7-30, and notes convertible after three years into 5-20 bonds. Plates captured in April, 1866.

$100 The words "Compound Interest Treasury Note" appear lengthwise of face of note and printed in big gold letters. The note is Series 1865; check-letter B; date May 15, 1865; act June 30, 1864; payable three years from date; and signed S. B. Colby, Register, and F. E. Spinner, Treasurer. The portrait of Washington and the vignette on the left end of note are both good work, the counterfeit plate having been engraved by Charles H. Smith, as he confessed, while the back of note is a genuine impression or from an electrotpe plate taken from a stolen impression of the genuine plate. The red numbers, however, are off color, and the figures uneven; and the large "U" in "United States" quite touches the outside line of the medallion in the upper left corner of the face of note; and the last "S" in "States" is distant not 1-16 of an inch from the outside line of the right corner medallion, while in genuine it is about 1-8 of an inch.

$1000 United States Coupon Bonds. Series of 1861. Acts of July 17, 1861, and August 5, 1861. Mature June 30, 1881 (Sixes of 1881). Portrait of Chase. Exceedingly dangerous counterfeits. Those seen bear only coupons maturing January 1, 1881. On counterfeit, in the $1000 counter, on nine sections, on each side of portrait of Chase, in the section to the left of the lower half of "1" in "1000," the letter "S" in "State" is entire, while on genuine only the upper half of the "S" is seen. The hair line around portrait on counterfeit shows a break of 1-16 of an inch, but the genuine does not, it is to the right of letter "S" in "Register's." Counterfeit differs from genuine in the mitering of the four corners of the green border. In title "United States of America" in the ruled shade on left side of bottom spur of letter "U" on counterfeit are seven very short lines forming very slight shade under that part of the letter—on genuine are ten lines, each about 1-16 of an inch long and forming a shade of same width as that at the bottom of the letter. Engraved signature at lower right hand of counterfeit and printed in grayish colored ink, is traced over with pen and ink—signature on genuine is written.

$1000 7-30 Bonds. Letter B. Dated June 15, 1865. Act of March 3, 1865. Signed S. B. Colby, Register, and F. E. Spinner, Treasurer. Very dangerous counterfeit. Bonds matured and interest ceased. The Treasury Department redeemed many of them from Jay Cooke & Co. before the bonds were discovered to be counterfeit. The Department redeemed $90,000 of the bogus bonds. Charles H. Smith stated that he engraved the plates.

$1000 5-20 Coupon Bonds of 1862. Consols of 1867. Fourth series; act February 25, 1862; date May 1, 1862. One of the best specimens of counterfeit work that was ever made. It is believed that no printing was ever done from the plates. They were not quite completed when captured on November 21, 1867.

The Different Methods of Counterfeiting Coin

Coins of all kinds and denominations have been counterfeited. The most dangerous counterfeits are those struck from a die, and are usually imitations of gold coins. Molds of various kinds are extensively used in counterfeiting, but counterfeits so made are much inferior to those made with a die. They have a fine appearance, lettering and milling being sharp and clear, and the ring usually good, in some instances almost perfect fac similes of genuine. They are usually a trifle short weight, however, and the edges or reeding not so sharp and clear as in genuine. Many of these coins are full weight. In counterfeits made from a mold, lettering, milling and reeding are usually poor, weight very defective, the coins lack the sharp and clear-cut appearance of genuine coin. Most counterfeit silver coins in circulation are made from molds, as it is an inexpensive form of counterfeiting. Some fair specimens have been produced in this way, but usually they are much lighter than the genuine, and if of required weight, differ in diameter or thickness.

Various metals are used by counterfeiters, principally platinum, silver, copper, brass, antimony, aluminum, zinc, type metal, lead and their numerous compositions.

Among the most dangerous counterfeits of gold coin are those of a composition of gold, silver and copper. They are a low grade gold, and the acid test shows they lack the fineness of standard gold used by the U. S. Mint, which is 900 fine, or 21.19 carats. These counterfeits average from 400 to 800 fine. Platinum counterfeits are dangerous, as the metal used gives required weight, and they are heavily gold-plated. When they have been in circulation for a time the plating wears off, especially on the edges.

The most dangerous counterfeit of silver coin is made of a composition of antimony and lead, the former metal predominating. These counterfeits are of the dollar, have a fine appearance, are heavily silver-plated, with fair ring; some are only slightly below the standard weight. Some pieces among the smaller coins are made of brass, struck from a die, and when heavily plated are fair imitations. They lack required weight, except in a few instances. Counterfeits of type metal, lead and other compositions are much lighter than genuine, those having required weight are much too thick.

Genuine coins of all kinds, for the sake of gain, are tampered with in various ways. These operations are confined almost exclusively to gold coins, which are sweated, plugged and filled.

Sweating is removing a portion of the gold from surface of coin. The process does not interfere with the ring, and as portion removed is generally slight, the coin is left with a very fair appearance, weight only being defective. The principal methods of sweating are the acid bath, filing the edges or reeding, the operator finding a profit in the small quantities of gold removed from numerous pieces. The average reduction in value of coins subjected to these processes is from 1-20 to 1-10.

Plugging is done by boring holes in the coin, extracting the gold, and filling cavity with a cheaper material. The larger coins—double eagles and eagles ($20 and $10 pieces)—are used for this purpose. Holes are bored into the coin from the edge or reeding, the gold extracted and cavity filled with a base metal. The small surface of the plugging material, where it shows on the edge of the coin, is covered with gold and reeding retouched with a file or machine. The average loss in value to coins treated in this way is from one-eighth to one-sixth. Coins of this kind are very dangerous, as they are perfect in appearance, the edges only having been tampered with.

Filling is most commonly done by sawing the coin through from the edge or reeding, removing the interior portion, and replacing it with a cheap metal. Coins of all denominations, from quarter eagle to double eagle, are subjected to the process. When platinum is used to replace gold extracted, the coin has same weight as genuine. By this process coins lose four-fifths of their value, as the original surfaces are left only of paper thickness. When edges have been covered with gold and reeding restored, the coin has the appearance of being genuine, having correct size and weight, and a fair ring. Sometimes the covering of gold on edges is so thin that filling can be distinctly seen. When other and less costly filling than platinum is used, coins are of light weight and have a bad ring. If of correct weight they are too thick. Another method of filling is sawing the coin partly in two from edge or reeding on one side, leaving a thin and thick portion. The thin side of the coin is turned back and the gold extracted from centre of thicker portion. The cavity is filled with base metal and sides pressed back into original position and soldered or brazed together. It is difficult to give average loss to coins treated in this manner as hardly any two seen have same amount of gold taken from them.

For detecting counterfeit coin, compare impress, size, weight, ring and general appearance with genuine coin of same period and coinage. The three tests of weight, diameter and thickness should be applied, for it is almost impossible for the counterfeiter to comply with these three tests without using genuine metal. Following we give a complete list and a thorough description of the most dangerous counterfeits known to be in existence, with means of their detection.

- 1855.—Composed of platinum; weighs 265 grains, or 7 grains heavier than genuine; has a fine appearance. Ring defective, diameter trifle greater than genuine. 1844. }
- 1844.—Very dangerous, made of platinum, heavily gold plated; diameter, thickness and weight same as genuine. Ring excellent. When worn platinum shows through plating, especially on edges.

Weight, 128 7-10 grains, about 3-10 of a grain light, which, allowing for abrasion, was within limits of genuine coin. Stained slightly with acid, thicker than genuine. Evidently struck from die prepared from a drop process, most dangerous of all processes in hands of counterfeiters.
- 1882.—Made in a mold of base metal and plated.

THREE-DOLLAR PIECE—$3.

Authorized to be coined, Act of February 21, 1853. Weight, 77.4 grains; fineness, 900. Deviation in weight allowed in coinage, .25 of a grain. Deviation in fineness allowed in assay, .001; lowest, .899; highest, .901. Coinage commenced, 1854. Coinage discontinued, Act of September 26, 1890. Total amount coined, $1,619,376.

COUNTERFEITS OF THE THREE-DOLLAR PIECE.

The coinage of three-dollar pieces has been, as may be noted, quite limited, yet this denomination of gold coin has been considerably counterfeited, the false coin being struck in a die from base metal, and so perfectly executed as to be dangerous. In color this counterfeit is a close imitation of standard gold, and a careful comparison of the general appearance and device of the false piece with that of the genuine coin is necessary to detect the difference between them. Genuine three-dollar pieces are sometimes swedged with fraudulent intent between plates of copper until of the diameter of the half eagle, when, the device and general appearance of the pieces being well preserved, they are placed in rolls among half eagles, and, unless detected, pass for five dollars.

QUARTER EAGLE—$2.50.

Authorized to be coined by Act of April 2, 1792, and coinage discontinued by Act of September 26, 1890. Weight of genuine Quarter Eagle, 64.5 grains; fineness, 900, and 21.19 carats.

- 1843.—Weighs 40 grains and is  $24\frac{1}{2}$  grains lighter than the genuine.
- 1843.—Weighs 43 grains and is  $21\frac{1}{2}$  grains light.
- 1844.—Weighs 41 grains and is  $23\frac{1}{2}$  grains light.
- 1846.—Weighs 48 grains and is  $16\frac{1}{2}$  grains light.
- 1849.—Weighs 45 grains and is  $19\frac{1}{2}$  grains light.
- 1851.—Dangerous, only about 3 grains light.
- 1852.—Weighs 40 grains, being  $24\frac{1}{2}$  grains light.
- 1852.—Most dangerous counterfeit of this denomination discovered. Contains only 27 cents worth gold; weight and size correct. Cannot be detected by acid test.
- 1853.—A well-made counterfeit, mostly brass, and heavily gold plated.
- 1854.—Weighs 33 grains, being  $31\frac{1}{2}$  grains light.
- 1855.—Is 5 grains light
- 1856.—Is 26 grains light.
- 1857.—Is 26 grains light.
- 1857.—Dangerous. Is exact weight of genuine, but trifle thicker and larger in diameter.
- 1858. } Composed of brass. Reeding and milling good. Trifle too thick. Lettering fair
- 1860. } on one side, poor on other.
- 1861.—Weighs 42 grains, and is  $22\frac{1}{2}$  grains light.

All above quarter eagles made in mold, composition mostly brass, and heavily plated. Reeding and milling poor, readily detected by light weight.

- 1862.—Composed of platinum; weighs 64 grains; exceedingly dangerous. Heavily gold plated, detected only by observing edge of coin, when plating is worn, shows platinum underneath.

DOLLARS—LARGE AND SMALL.

Authorized to be coined by Act of March 3, 1849. Weight of genuine dollar is 25.8 grains, fineness 900, and 21.19 carats.

Counterfeit Silver Coin

STANDARD DOLLARS.

Authorized to be coined by Act of April 2, 1792. Weight of standard silver dollar, 412½ grains 900 fine, first coined in 1794. Number of old dollars were counterfeited, composition generally being of German silver and brass, and heavily plated; milling and reeding poor.

Bland or standard silver dollar first coined in 1878; fineness, 900; weight in grains, 412½. All date of this coin extensively counterfeited; composition generally used being lead, pewter, type metal and iron. Made in a mold, and over 100 grains lighter than genuine; readily detected owing to slippery feeling.

A number of very dangerous counterfeits of this coin have been seen recently, which were nearly full weight, averaging from 380 to 410 grains. Composed of antimony and lead, former metal predominating heavily silver plated. Made in mold; fine general appearance, almost perfect imitation of genuine. The dates of this coin range from 1878 to present time. When coin becomes worn by use, base metal shows beneath plating. Ring trifle imperfect. We warn our patrons against this dangerous counterfeit.

HALF DOLLARS.

Authorized to be coined by Act of April 2, 1792. Weight of genuine half dollar of present issue, 192.9 grains; fineness, 900. Weight prior to 1837 was 208 grains; from 1837 to 1853, 206.25 grains; legal tender for ten dollars. Old issues were extensively counterfeited; composition generally used was German silver and brass, heavily plated; bad fair appearance. Of the late issue the country has been flooded with counterfeits of various dates. The most dangerous of these have following dates: 1841, 1842, 1843, 1845, 1849, 1857, 1860, 1861, 1871, 1872, 1875, 1876, 1877, 1892, 1893, 1894, 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900. These coins are struck from dies, and made from molds. Metals used are brass, lead, pewter and type metal. Most of these coins are lighter than genuine, and have sharp keen ring, as if containing glass: 1841, 1842, 1872, 1876, 1877 are nearly full weight and size, the last mentioned being a trifle thicker than genuine, and composed largely of brass. Have a very fine appearance, but can be readily detected by milling and reeding, and defective lettering of word "Liberty" on shield of Goddess of Liberty.

In counterfeits of 1894, 1895, 1896, 1897 and 1899, weight, ring and color are equal to genuine, being made of silver. On back shield on breast of eagle imperfect, also words "E Pluribus Unum," letters being irregular, some very indistinct.

The counterfeit of 1898 has the weight, diameter and thickness of genuine coin. Last syllable in "Pluribus" and final "m" in "Unum" on reverse of coin imperfect. Two dies have been used in stamping the reverse side of these coins, which is proven by examining the position of the stars. On some the star touches the last letter "S" in the word "States," while on others it is some distance from it. On the obverse of coin there appears a dot at the top end of the "i" in date "1898," and the nose of figure has flat appearance. Also the figures in "1898" irregular in one die.

QUARTER DOLLARS.

Authorized to be coined by Act of April 2, 1792. Weight of genuine quarter dollar of present issue is 96.45 grains; fineness 900. Prior to 1837 was 104 grains; from 1837 to 1853, 103.125 grains; legal tender for ten dollars. This coin has been very extensively counterfeited of various dates, the most dangerous of which are 1853, 1854, 1855, 1857, 1858, 1860, 1861, 1892, 1893, 1894, 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900. Metals generally used, brass, tin, pewter and lead. Made in mold, well plated, calculated to deceive. Reeding and milling usually poor; obverse and reverse not perfect. Counterfeits of this denomination of later date are very inferior, having greasy and slippery feeling, easily detected by any person accustomed to handling money. The counterfeits of 1895 and 1898 have the weight, diameter, thickness and ring of the genuine coin, being made of silver. The most noticeable defect is the words "In God We Trust," on obverse of coin, which on the counterfeit touches the milling of the coin, while on the genuine it does not. On the reverse the "Q" and "R" in "Quarter" are imperfect, and the stars over the eagle are imperfect. The reeding on the outer edge of coin is very well done on these counterfeits.

TWENTY CENTS.

Authorized to be coined by Act of March 3, 1875. Coinage discontinued by Act of May 2, 1878. Weight of genuine twenty-cent piece, 77.16; fineness, 900; legal tender for five dollars. Few counterfeits in circulation; very poor and easily detected.

DIMES.

Authorized to be coined by Act of April 2, 1792. Weight of genuine dime, 38.58 grains; fineness, 900. Weight prior to 1837, 41.7 grains; from 1837 to 1854, 41.25 grains. Legal tender for ten dollars. Counterfeits very numerous. Metals used, brass, pewter and lead. General appearance very poor.

HALF DIMES.

Authorized to be coined by Act of April 2, 1792. Weight of genuine half dime, 19.29 grains; fineness, 900; weight prior to 1837, 20.8 grains; from 1837 to 1853, 20.625 grains; legal tender for five dollars. A few counterfeits of these old dates, exceedingly poor and readily detected.

THREE CENTS.

Authorized to be coined by Act of March 3, 1851. Coinage discontinued by Act of Feb. 12, 1873. Weight of genuine three-cent piece, 11.52 grains; fineness, 900. Legal tender for five dollars. A number of counterfeits of this coin have been seen, fair imitation of genuine, well plated, calculated to deceive.

Silver coins of smaller denominations than $1, if not mutilated, so as to be unfit for circulation, may be presented in sums of $20 or any multiple thereof, to the Treasurer, or any Assistant Treasurer of the United States for redemption in lawful money.

Refuse mutilated Silver and Minor Coins, as there is no provision for their redemption.

FIVE CENTS—NICKEL.

Authorized to be coined by Act of May 16, 1866. This coin has been extensively counterfeited, particularly date of 1875; dangerous counterfeit. Struck from a die, and made of same metal as used by mint. Lettering in words "United States" imperfect, also stars surrounding figure "5." Other counterfeits are very poor, composed of lead and pewter, and made in mold.

THREE CENTS—NICKEL.

Numerous counterfeits of this coin circulated. Made in mold, very poor, easily detected.

CENT—COPPER-NICKEL AND BRONZE.

These coins have been counterfeited to small extent, principally to fill cabinets of numismatics, particularly old dates. Good counterfeits of 1884, 1888, 1892, 1896 and 1897 in circulation. Genuine cent is 90 per cent. copper and 10 per cent. zinc and tin, while counterfeit is all copper, hence darker bronze than genuine.

The following is a test for determining whether a coin is good or bad. Use liquids as near edge of suspected coin as possible, as that is part most worn. A drop of preparation will have no effect on genuine coin, while it can be plainly seen on the counterfeit. Heavily plated coins should be scraped slightly before using.

CANADIAN CURRENCY

The system of paper money of Canada is similar to that of the United States, consisting of Dominion of Canada notes, which now amount to $60,000,000, while the note circulation of the different banks amount to about $75,000,000, the whole volume being subject to contraction or expansion, as circumstances may warrant.

PROVINCE OF CANADA—Bills: $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50, $100, $500, $1,000—recalled from circulation.

DOMINION OF CANADA—Scrip, 25 cents. Bills: $1, $2, $4, $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000.

DOMINION OF CANADA—$5.00, $10.00, $20.00—retiring.

Some issues of "Dominion of Canada" Bills are printed on the back "Payable at Toronto, Montreal, St. John, Halifax, Winnipeg, Charlottetown, or Victoria," but later issues have engraved, through the center of the green or brown printed design on the back, the words "DOMINION OF CANADA," and are redeemed by any of the Assistant Receivers-General throughout the Dominion.

Newfoundland is not in the Dominion of Canada, but all other Bills of Banks in the Dominion are now received at par in all portions of the Dominion, but subject to a discount by Brokers in the United States, the highest rates prevailing in the winter months and at points most distant from place of issue or redemption.

THE NATIONAL COUNTERFEIT DETECTOR, on the following page, gives a list of Parent Banks in business in the Dominion of Canada for the protection of all its subscribers from doubtful, broken and worthless institutions, which previously existed in the Provinces, their bills being still in circulation and used by dishonest persons. These parent banks have branches in other sections of Canada, and bills of smaller denominations than fives were formerly issued.

Counterfeit Canadian Bills

ONES

DOMINION OF CANADA.

1. Portrait of Jacques Cartier, old issue, dated Ottawa, July 1, 1870. Check Letter D. Red numbers. "Payable at Toronto" on back. Upper left end of note not good; white streak extends from ear to chin on side of face which is not found in genuine. Lathe work around 1, right note, irregular; lines cannot be traced. There are three issues of these counterfeit bills, the difference being principally in the size of the red figures.
1. Portrait of Lady Dufferin. Letter A. "Payable at Montreal." Dated 1st June, 1878. Very poor counterfeit on very soft paper and some numbers in green. Another issue of the counterfeit is on stiff white paper. Portrait and all lathe work very coarse work.
1. Lady Dufferin portrait. Letter A or C. "Payable at Montreal." Date, 1st June, 1878. Another large lot of similar counterfeits to the last above appeared in May, 1899. Paper like the softer kid. Genuine portrait has her right shoulder shaded or dark, but left shoulder is very light. Counterfeit has both shoulders equally shaded and very dark. Letters C and A are confusing. The A (black ink) is just under, and the C (black ink also) is just ahead of, the blue numbers.
1. Portraits—Aberdeen and wife. Series A. Letters A, B. Dated Ottawa, March 31, 1898. Engraving poor. Lathe work, shading lines about Ottawa and date, and other fine work, very bad. "For Minister of Finance" omitted.
1. Aberdeen issue. Series B. Letter C. Dated Ottawa, March 31, 1898. Light brown ink design about bottom face of note. Photo-mechanical on good paper, and all colors good. Quality of engraved work poor; it is dark, coarse and blotchy, especially in log-rolling scene and in lathe work around large counters "1." Word "Series" hardly legible. Some fine shading lines are solid black. Back better work than face, green ink too light.

BANK OF BRITISH NORTH AMERICA, St. John, N. B.

1. Lithograph, old. "New Brunswick" across end of bill.

BANK OF MONTREAL, Montreal, P. Q.

None of the above banks now issue $1 bills.

TWOS

DOMINION OF CANADA.

2. Portrait of Lord Dufferin. Check letter B. Blue numbers. "Payable at Montreal." Dated June 1st, 1878. Very dangerous. Both face and back of note good. Portrait of Lord Dufferin good, though forehead appears a little too broad or full. Paper fair, but a little harsh and yellowish. Color of blue numbers excellent. On face of bill lathe work in large green figures 2 is poor, and in lower half of each of these figures 2 there are on genuine bill four upright zigzag lines formed by the peculiar shape or joining of fine lathe work lines, but on counterfeit notes these four engraved zigzag lines are very prominent, and the two centre ones do not touch one another as on genuine. In imprint, "British American Bank Note Co., Montreal," dots over "i's" omitted. Final c in word "Finance" in small print "For Minister of Finance" is larger than other letters.
2. Dufferin issue. Letter C. Red numbers. Payable at Toronto. Dated June 1st, 1878, which date in some cases has been changed. Some defects in zigzag lines as mentioned in above paragraph. Dangerous, excepting poor centre vignette of Lord Dufferin, and imitation lathe work in large green 2's. Most all the other work is about as good as some genuine. When vignette of Lord Dufferin is worn this note is very dangerous. Paper fair, but in some cases very good. Color of red numbers on some of these notes is very bad and on others quite fair.
2. Lansdowne issue. Letter B. Dated Ottawa, July 2d, 1887. Has a blurred and indistinct appearance, and green design in centre is off color. Figures used in numbers are only half the size of genuine and printed in purple ink. Under title "Dominion of Canada" the words "Will pay" are very poorly engraved. To the left and under word "Ottawa" (in date line) printed word "Countersigned" over signature is omitted in counterfeit. Words "For Minister of Finance," under signature of J. M. Courtney, are also omitted.
2. Portrait of King Edward. Letter A. Dated Ottawa, July 2d, 1897. Portrait, center vignette and lathe work very poor. Red number too light; lettering fair. Back of note poor. Paper fair.
2. Portrait of King Edward. Letter C. Dated Ottawa, July 2d, 1897. Appears photo-engraved, but poorly done, especially colors. Lathe work is all poor, especially around border and large counters "2" on right end face of note. Shading lines of "Dominion of Canada" are very heavy and poor, also parallel ruling in sky. Paper fair and portrait fair. On back of note words "American Bank Note Company, Ottawa," poorly printed.
2. Portrait of King Edward. Letter D. Dated Ottawa, July 2d, 1897. Poor. Portrait a poor likeness and of very coarse work, especially shading lines on face and forehead and in background. All fine shading lines on note coarse, and lathe work poor. Note has not as good work on it as on a previous issue of letter C, but has better colored black and chocolate inks. Paper thick.

None of the above banks now issue $2 bills.

4. Poor counterfeit. Paper poor; inks and lathe work very defective. Bank not in existence.

DOMINION BANK, Toronto, Ont.

4. Old issue. Dated Feb. 1st, 1871. Letter B. There is a white line around the hair portion of Prince Arthur's head, which serves to separate it from background. Cashier's signature, W. H. Holland, Jr., is engraved, while on genuine it is written. Lathe work very irregular.

BANK OF UPPER CANADA, Toronto, Ont.

4. Alterations from notes of failed Bank of Western Canada, Clifton. Words "Western" and "Clifton" are erased, and words "Upper" and "Toronto" substituted. This is done by means of acid, also by pasting.

Very few genuine notes of this date and issue in circulation.
5. Old issue. Letter D. Genuine are dated 3d July, 1877. On counterfeit the date of month is omitted. Imprint of British-American Bank Note Company, Montreal, upper left, border of note, poorly engraved; vignettes badly done. On lower left end Britannia seated has her right hand resting upon shield, the lower rim of which is well defined by a clear white line which does not appear on genuine bill. Another counterfeit of this note has appeared, dated 5th July, 1877.

BANK OF MONTREAL, Montreal, Quebec.

5. Old counterfeit. Vignette in upper right corner, steamer; left end, cattle.
5. Dated Jan. 2, 1895. Series C and D. Fair wood-cut, but quality of work will not bear close inspection. Lettering and numbering poor. Series C countersigned by N. McLean, D by J. A. Paddon.
5. Fair. Dated January 2, 1895. Portraits of Rt. Hon. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, also E. C. Clouston, General Manager, not as lifelike as genuine and poorly engraved. The "V" in centre, also panel lower face of note containing signatures, is a light brown; on genuine they are pale green. Back of note poor. Paper fair quality.
5. Fair. Dated Jan. 2, 1904. Series A. Portraits of Sir Edward Clouston and Sir Edward Drummond are coarse and appear to be sketches of original. Whole bill probably sketch from which a plate was made. Paper thick. General appearance of bill attracts attention. On careful examination, fine lines over heads and faces of portraits appear different, being few and continuous. Lines on coats coarse and roughly cross-lined. Lathe work coarse. Red numbers fair.

BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA, Halifax, N. S.

5. Dated Halifax, July 5, 1877. Letter B. Very rough pen and brush work.

BANK OF TORONTO, Toronto, Ont.

5. Port Hope (Branch) issue. Photo. Letter E. Dated July 1st, 1880. Color is a purple-brown. Green FIVE across lower centre face of bill is painted over with a green water-color. Numbers are painted in red water-color, and letters in PORT HOPE painted in blue ink.

CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE, Toronto, Ont.

5. Old issue. Letter C. Dated May 1st, 1871. Signature of E. J. Smith, Cashier, is heavily printed; on genuine it is written. In oval portrait in centre the Queen's face is turned more to the front than in genuine. Engraving of portrait coarse.

Fac-simile of Discount Glass

Fac-Simile of Discount Glass Used at the National Bank Redemption Agency for Discounting National Bank Notes, and by the U. S. Treasurer for Discounting U. S. Notes, Gold and Silver Certificates.

U. S. Treasury Notes, also Gold and Silver Certificates, are about  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch longer than National Bank Notes. A calculation, however, can be made from this Scale.

All Notes equalling or exceeding three-fifths of their original proportions, and bearing the name of the bank and the signature of one of its officers, are redeemable at their face value. Mutilated, U. S. Notes, Gold Certificates and Silver Certificates are redeemable at their face value by the U. S. Treasurer and Assistant Treasurers, when not more than two-fifths of the note is missing. When mutilated so that less than three-fifths, but clearly more than two-fifths, of the original proportions remain, are redeemable by the Treasurer only, at one-half the face value of the whole note or certificate; unless when accompanied by an affidavit that the missing portions are totally destroyed, and then all fragments are redeemable at full face value.
